DEFINITIONS:

Applications: Similar to software, applications are downloadable programs or electronic versions of tangible items which are downloaded to a wireless-enabled device (such as a smart phone or tablet) for one-time or ongoing use.
Billing Cycle: The time span the bank uses to determine what transactions will appear on a billing statement. A P-Card monthly limit spans one billing cycle. The P-Card monthly limit refreshes at the beginning of every billing cycle, which is typically the 3rd of the month.

Music Downloads: The purchase of music to use in a public setting, such as a classroom, sporting event, or campus activity. To remain in compliance with music licensing, songs purchased must be listed on one or more of the following listing agencies:

Order Stacking: Intentionally dividing a transaction into two or more transactions to circumvent the Cardholder’s per transaction limit.

Examples:
- Cardholder’s P-Card is declined for a $2,600 purchase, so the Cardholder makes 2 transactions, one for $2,300 and one for $300.
- Cardholder wants to make a purchase greater than $2,500, runs the P-Card for $2,500 and has another Cardholder run his or her card for the difference.
- Cardholder pays a $2,500 deposit and then pays the difference on P-Card at a later date.

Purchasing Card (P-Card): A corporate credit card issued to a Cardholder to make purchases on behalf of Liberty University.

Software: Any installable computer product or internet-delivered service that electronically creates, stores, or processes University data, information, or content. University data includes any information or content gathered from University faculty, staff, students, alumni, donors, parents, churches, applicants, or prospects of any kind to support administrative, academic, operational, or any other University functions or processes.
