 COURSE SYLLABUS

HLTH 698
PRACTICUM

COURSE DESCRIPTION
In this experience the student applies knowledge and skills related to public health in a supervised setting.

RATIONALE
A real-world field experience will help the student to integrate all the public health competencies through practice and to provide an opportunity to hone skills for his/her future role as a public health professional. This course is conducted in a 16-week format to provide adequate time to gain valuable experience and to fully develop a public health project or to complete meaningful public health research.
