HISTORY OF EVANGELICALISM

COURSE DESCRIPTION
This course is designed to explore the post-Reformation origins and development of Evangelicalism as an historical movement clearly emerging in the twentieth century. This history will focus on the Great Awakening as the primary catalyst of the movement, continue with the institutionalization of the movement, include its missionary expansion, explore its doctrinal struggles with the rise of Neo-evangelicalism and Fundamentalism in the 20th century, including the major issues that gave rise to them, and assess the status of Evangelicalism as it has moved into the 21st century.

RATIONALE
Evangelicalism has directly and distinctly impacted American religious thought and experience. At the core of historic Evangelicalism is the gospel of Jesus Christ, and so philosophically, Evangelicalism must be studied and defined by its vigorous proclamation of the message of the gospel. Evangelicalism is also recognized as a “come-outer” movement as distinguished from those who reject Biblical literalism as seen from the results of the Great Awakenings upon the populace in both the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. This separatist tendency within the Evangelical movement is the basis for the development of fundamentalism in the twentieth century and remains a core premise of what drives the Evangelical Movement into the 21st century.
