Liberty University: online learning at its finest

a message from our Chancellor

Over forty years ago, my father, Dr. Jerry Falwell, first envisioned what is now Liberty University—a world-class university, seminary, and law school built on a rock-solid commitment to excellent academics, biblical truth and morality, and an environment that would cultivate and produce spiritual growth.

In only a short period of time his dream has been fulfilled as Liberty has become the world's largest evangelical university, consistently producing graduates with the knowledge, skills, and values required to impact the world. Plus, through our online program, we are privileged to directly educate men and women from all fifty states as well as around the globe.

We look forward to you becoming a part of what God is doing here at Liberty University, as you allow us to teach you, serve you, and challenge you through our mission of changing lives...one degree at a time.

Jerry Falwell, Jr.
Chancellor/President, Liberty University

“I cannot express the value of good, Christian education. I’ve never done well in the classroom... but thanks to God adding new diligence to my life and Liberty’s flexibility, I can go at my own pace and get the work done. And until now, I’ve never had professors who prayed for me personally. Thank you so much.”
