Authority of the Handbook

The policies and procedures described in this handbook supersede those described in previous handbooks and replace all other communications on issues addressed herein. These policies and procedures apply to current and newly accepted students.

Purpose of the Handbook

It is essential that students in the Ph.D. Counselor Education and Supervision program thoroughly read and understand the Handbook as it provides a detailed summary of the requirements and structure of the Ph.D. CES Program. When students enter this Ph.D. Program, they agree to adhere to all the policies and procedures outlined in the Handbook. Additionally, because the Handbook is revised as Program and/or University policies and procedures evolve, students must review the Handbook each year to remain aware of the Handbook revisions.

Prospective students will find information to assist them in determining if our doctoral program is right for them.

To summarize, this Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision Program Handbook offers information that supplements the content in the Liberty University’s Catalog. The Handbook clarifies relevant information, policies, procedures, requirements, and expectations of the Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision Program at Liberty. The following pages provide critical information to the pursuit of this degree. Doctoral students must know and adhere to the content of the current Handbook at all times.

Disclosure Statement

Enrollment in the Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision program does not guarantee a degree from Liberty. Students are responsible for meeting all academic and professional requirements for graduation. Further information regarding these academic and professional requirements is outlined in this handbook. Students enrolled in the Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision program are responsible for knowing the material outlined in this handbook.

From the Counselor Education and Supervision Program Director

Welcome to Liberty University, the Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies, and the Ph.D. Program in Counselor Education and Supervision!

We consider it an honor and privilege to support you as you develop leadership knowledge and skills in the field of counseling. The department staff and faculty are here to encourage, mentor, and support you during your doctoral studies. We believe that becoming a leader in the field of counseling is a vital calling, and we are committed to providing you with experiences and relationships that are both rewarding and rigorous. It is our desire that you leave this program fully equipped to make a profound difference in the lives and communities in which you work. May you devote yourself to this endeavor with a mission to serve Christ as highly competent, diversity honoring, and ethically grounded counselor educators, supervisors, advanced clinical practitioners, scholar-researchers, and social justice advocates.

Albeit we devote ourselves to walking along side you in the most helpful and meaningful ways possible, ultimately you are responsible for your degree and to obtaining the goals you have related to your vocation. It is our hope and prayer that you flourish in all ways during your doctoral journey!

Lisa S. Sosin, Ph.D., LPC, LLP, BACS
Director, Ph.D. Counselor Education and Supervision Program
Liberty University General Information

1.1 Campus
Liberty University is a Christ-oriented, private, coeducational, comprehensive liberal arts institution. Founded in 1971, Liberty now offers over 700 unique programs of study. Liberty’s more than 7,000-acre campus boasts 380 buildings that consist of over 6.6 million square feet of technologically advanced academic, residential and recreational space, including over 200+ classrooms. Additionally, our student body is highly diverse with individuals from all 50 states and more than 80 nations.

Liberty University is nestled in the foothills of the beautiful Blue Ridge Mountains and located on the south bank of the historic James River, in a region rich in history, culture, and outdoor recreational opportunities. For more information on the history, mission, and doctrine of Liberty University, visit our website.

1.2 Liberty University Mission and Purpose
Maintaining the vision of the founder, Dr. Jerry Falwell, Liberty University, develops Christ-centered men and women with the values, knowledge, and skills essential to impact the world. Through its residential and online programs, the University educates men and women who will make important contributions to their workplaces and communities, follow their chosen vocations as callings to glorify God, and fulfill the Great Commission.

Liberty University will:

1. Emphasize excellence in teaching and learning.
2. Foster university-level competencies in communication, critical thinking, information literacy, and mathematics in all undergraduate programs.
3. Ensure competency in scholarship, research, and professional communication in all graduate programs and undergraduate programs where appropriate.
4. Promote the synthesis of academic knowledge and a Christian worldview in order that there might be a maturing of spiritual, intellectual, social, and physical value-driven behavior.
5. Enable students to engage in a major field of study in career-focused disciplines built on a solid foundation in the liberal arts.
6. Promote an understanding of the Western tradition and the diverse elements of American cultural history, especially the importance of the individual in maintaining democratic and free market processes.
7. Contribute to a knowledge and understanding of other cultures and of international events.
8. Encourage a commitment to the Christian life, one of personal integrity, sensitivity to the needs of others, social responsibility and active communication of the Christian faith, and, as it is lived out, a life that leads people to Jesus Christ as the Lord of the universe and their own personal Savior.
1.3 Accreditation

Liberty University is approved by the State Council of Higher Education for Virginia and is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award associate, bachelor, master, and doctoral degrees. Liberty is also a member of the Association of Christian Schools International.

As of May 12, 2016, Liberty University’s Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision program is accredited by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling & Related Educational Programs (CACREP). CACREP is a specialized accreditation body recognized by the Council for Higher Education Accreditation (CHEA) to accredit masters and doctoral degree programs in counseling and its specialties. For further information on the organization, consult the agency website at www.cacrep.org. For further information on the program’s accreditation, please visit the CACREP accreditation page.

Liberty University admits candidates of any race, color, and national and ethnic origin, and accords them all the rights, privileges, programs, and activities generally made available to candidates at the school. It does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national and ethnic origin, sexual orientation, or disability in administration of its educational policies, admission policies, scholarship and loan programs, or athletic and other school-administered programs.
Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision Program

2.1 Overview
The Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision Program is housed in The Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies, School of Behavioral Sciences at Liberty University. The primary aim of the Ph.D. Program is to mentor a diverse body of Doctoral students, our future colleagues, who sense a calling to extend the foundation of knowledge on ethical and effective counseling, counselor education, and supervision through the dissemination of meaningful research and scholarship and by impacting the field in leadership positions in clinical settings, higher education, and counseling associations.

The Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision is a 60 hour program, founded on 33 hours of M.A. level counseling competencies that comprise the CACREP entry level standards encompassed by our CACREP accredited Clinical Mental Health Counseling, Marriage and Family Counseling, and School Counseling degrees. As such, students who gain entrance to this Ph. D. Program demonstrate that they have previously met all of the entry level competencies outlined in the CACREP Accreditation Manual (CACREP, 2009; 2016) prior to beginning doctoral level counselor education coursework.

This Ph.D. degree Program provides education for students seeking career opportunities as leaders in the field of counseling. Graduates develop knowledge and skills that enable them to ethically and competently promote advocacy, social justice, and social change at the individual and systemic level, disseminate research and scholarship that extends the knowledge base of the counseling field, and impact the field through association membership and participation.

2.2 Mission Statement
The mission of the Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies (CEFS) is to produce ethically and spiritually aware mental health counselors and counselor educators who possess the values, knowledge, skills, and personal disposition to promote the mental health and holistic wellness of clients across diverse populations. The mission of the Doctoral Program in Counselor Education and Supervision is to train highly competent counselor educators, supervisors, clinical practitioners, researchers, scholars, and leader-advocates. Faculty in the Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies are committed to collaborative inquiry wherein doctoral students are supported in developing competencies in leadership roles in the counseling field. To facilitate these outcomes, faculty and students engage in learning experiences that support them in developing:

1. Collaborative relationships with faculty and other professionals in the field of counseling

2. Leadership skills in counselor education, supervision, advanced clinical practice, research and scholarship, and social justice action
3. Expertise in an area or areas of professional identity and functioning

4. Knowledge and skills in developing and disseminating research and scholarship that makes a significant impact on the field and the lives of others

5. Competency and comfort in participating in professional counseling organizations (i.e., American Counseling Association and its Divisions)

2.3 Purpose
Consistent with the University’s mission to develop “Christ-centered men and women with the values, knowledge, and skills essential to impact the world,” the Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies seeks to educate the whole person within a framework of grace and truth, which are core values exemplified in the life of Christ and necessary for professional service; developing the knowledge, values, skills, and personal disposition necessary for effective professional service. Our mission is achieved, in significant measure, through offering rigorous academic programs, dynamic interaction with mentors, faculty, and carefully structured practicum and internships.

2.4 Commitment to Diversity
Liberty University is a school founded on Christian values such as grace, truth, and love for all persons. As believers in Christ, we demonstrate our commitment to loving others by celebrating and honoring diversity (cf. Matthew 22:34-40; Mark 12:28-34; Luke 10:25-28).

We approach counseling leadership as a profession that fosters holistic human growth and development in the cognitive, emotional, behavioral, relational, and spiritual domains of life. Our approach also supports the worth, dignity, potential and uniqueness of others who are made in the image of God. This means for us that all persons possess dignity and worth because they are unique subjects of Divine Creation. Our vision is focused on nurturing an academic community of diverse people and ideas and assuring that diversity enhances academic excellence and individual growth.

Our faculty and students are comprised of persons that represent various national, ethnic, spiritual, and denominational backgrounds. Learning to be respectful and appreciate other cultures adds to each student’s experience at Liberty. For that reason, we are committed to nurturing and training a diverse student body in an atmosphere of mutual respect and appreciation of differences.

The School of Behavioral Sciences provides an academic community for students, faculty, and staff to teach and learn from the experiences of others and to submit personal values and assumptions for reflection and critical examination. Student learning, as well as professional, and personal growth, occur in a climate that encourages a deepened appreciation of differences. Therefore, we do not discriminate in our educational and counselor training programs on the bases of: race, color, creed, religion, gender, age, national/ethnic origin, sexual orientation, and physical or mental disability.

Recognizing the importance of all dimensions of diversity as noted above, the School of Behavioral Sciences adheres to the following initiatives:

- To increase, through recruitment and retention measures, the diverse representation of students, faculty, and staff;
- Promote full implementation of professional standards of practice and multicultural counseling competencies across the curriculum and in specialized courses;
- To include issues of diversity throughout the instructional programs and professional development activities;
- To develop graduate assistantships opportunities to serve diverse student groups;
- To provide departmental opportunities for students and faculty to engage in the exchange of ideas and information related to diversity;
- To maintain ongoing educational opportunities and equality of access to our academic community; and
- To equip students to ethically utilize spirituality as a force for healing when and where appropriate.

Students in the Ph.D. program must exhibit the American Counseling Association’s standards and ethics of the counseling profession regarding sensitivity to and celebration of diversity.

2.5 Program Intent
The Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies’ Doctor of Philosophy in Counselor Education and Supervision program provides students with an integration of academic course work and applied learning experiences. Students are expected to master course work considered essential to the doctoral level professional preparation of counselor leaders who seek to offer services consistent with a biblical worldview. Though students are encouraged to evaluate their own specific needs and to take advantage of available resources for personal and professional development, the following learning outcomes are applicable to all students:

1. The student will be able to apply supervision theory and skills to clinical supervision.

2. The student will be able to demonstrate course design, delivery, and evaluation methods appropriate to counselor education learning outcomes.

3. The student will be able to critically analyze and evaluate scholarly research, develop and implement research designs, and produce scholarly reports that disseminate findings to the profession of counseling.

4. The student will be able to critically analyze, evaluate, and synthesize a broad range of counseling theories, with an advanced understanding of psychopathology, to inform case conceptualization and deliver and evaluate evidence-based interventions across diverse populations and settings.

5. The student will be able to provide leadership and advocacy within the profession and on behalf of its clientele.

6. The student will be able to integrate faith and spirituality into counselor education and supervision in an ethical manner.
Admission Policies

3.1 Program Admission
Students admitted to the Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision must meet several admissions requirements. Elements of the application package facilitate the Admissions Committee’s ability to assess that potential students are well beyond meeting the entry level counseling competencies. Students demonstrate through the elements that they:

- Are prepared for the academic rigor of doctoral level training
- Have a solid foundation of previous professional experience
- Are mature in that they are appropriately self-aware and emotionally regulated
- Are able to communicate effectively orally and in writing; and
- Are highly interested and have aptitude for research, scholarship, leadership, and advocacy in the field of counseling.

3.2 Admission Requirements
Admission to the PhD in Counselor Education and Supervision program at Liberty University is a selective process. Each applicant is carefully evaluated for his or her potential as a professional mental health counselor or counselor educator, compatibility with our program’s goals and mission, and ability to contribute to the counseling profession. In the application review process, each student’s academic, professional, and personal experiences, motivation, ethics, and dispositions are considered in relation to the potential for successful post-graduate study.

All requirements and procedures stated in the Admissions and Academic Information sections of the Liberty University Catalog will apply unless stated to exclude the PhD program. The instructions and forms needed are available online at http://www.liberty.edu/admissions/index.cfm?PID=145.

Admission requirements to the Clinical Mental Health Counseling program are as follows:

Clinical Prerequisites
Applicants must submit their master’s transcripts to verify they meet CACREP’s entry level core curricular, professional practice, and program area competencies. Applicants who are not yet licensed agree to work towards licensure prior to graduation from the Ph.D. Program. If the Ph.D. Admissions Committee finds that a student is missing any M.A. entry-level prerequisite courses, the Invitation of Admission letter will list the course(s) that must be completed prior to formal admission.

If a student believes that previous coursework satisfies a clinical prerequisite, s/he may appeal the Admission Committee’s decision. To access the required course content, students should review the course descriptions for the clinical prerequisites at http://www.liberty.edu/media/1118/Course_Descriptions.pdf

For each clinical prerequisite that the student wishes to appeal, s/he must clearly outline how a previous master’s level counseling course meets the content and intent of the clinical prerequisite. A syllabus from the previous course must accompany the letter of appeal. The clinical prerequisites can be taken at Liberty University or any regionally accredited college or university.

The Clinical Prerequisite Courses include the following:

Core Curricular:
- Orientation to Professional Identity & Function
- Ethical and Legal Issues in Counseling
- Human Growth and Development
- Research and Program Evaluation
- Multicultural Counseling
- Counseling Techniques & the Helping Relationship
- Assessment Techniques in Counseling
- Group Counseling
- Career Development & Counseling

Program Area (Clinical Mental Health Counseling)
- Psychopathology & Counseling*
- Clinical Diagnosis/Treatment Planning*

Professional Practice
- Practicum (100 Hours / 40 Hours of Direct Client Contact)
- Internship (600 Hours / 240 Hours of Direct Client Contact)

*Note: Suggested but not required for licensed school counseling applicants.

Students admitted to the Ph.D. Program with clinical prerequisite course requirements must complete these requirements (with a grade of B or better) prior to taking Ph.D. level courses. Clinical prerequisites can be taken at Liberty University or any regionally accredited college or university.

Additional Documents

1. $50 Application Fee (non-refundable, non-transferable)

2. Completed Application for Graduate Admission

3. Official Transcripts from all previous colleges and universities attended at the graduate and undergraduate level.
   - Former Liberty University students must personally request transcripts from the University Registrar. (Note: Transcripts are not necessary from undergraduate institutions where less than twelve hours were taken).
   - Applicants must have an earned Master’s degree or its equivalent from a regionally accredited seminary or graduate school, with a cumulative GPA of at least 3.25 on a 4.0 scale.

4. TOEFL® Test Scores (international students only)
   TOEFL® is required for international students or students for whom English is a second language (minimum score of 600; 250 if computer-based; 80 Internet-based). An official TOEFL score report must be submitted to the University before an admission decision can be made. A score of 80 is required for the internet-based test for all graduate degree programs. Information regarding the TOEFL may be obtained online at www.toefl.org.

5. Two Letters of Professional Recommendation.
   These must be professional references (i.e., professor, clinical supervisor, administrator) from persons who are familiar with the applicant’s training and subsequent practice. All should be obtained from individuals qualified to address the applicant’s maturity, motivation, and ethics.

6. Letter of Intent
   A 300-word Letter of Intent specifying the applicant’s purpose and goals for entering the Ph.D. Program. This letter should detail how the applicant fits into our Ph.D. Program’s mission, while still bringing his or her own sense of uniqueness.

7. Professional Vita
   The professional vita should include earned degrees, ministry and/or counseling experience, career goals, and indicate counseling licensure, or, a minimum of at least one year of clinical experience in the counseling field (can include MA level practicum and internship experiences) with a commitment to obtain counseling licensure prior to graduation from the Ph.D. Program, if possible.

8. Vignette Response
   The Vignette Response is submitted in the form of an American Psychological Association Formatted Paper.

9. A Ph.D. Graduate Status Record Form.

10. Personal Interview with Core Ph.D. Faculty
    Selected applicants may be invited to participate in an interview with core faculty.

All written application materials must be submitted in proper APA style and reflect appropriate levels of professionalism and scholarship for the doctoral level of learning.

Faculty Review and Admission Decisions
Once all the required application materials are received by the Admissions Office, the student’s file is posted to the Ph.D. Counselor Education and Supervision Admissions Committee for evaluation. The office of Graduate Admissions and the Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies Faculty reserve the right to use professional judgment when conducting admission reviews and may request additional documentation to evaluate a candidate’s record. In rare cases, if certain documentation does not meet admission standards, the Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies Faculty reserves the right to offer admissions to students based on professional judgment.

Notification of Admission to the Ph.D. Program
Admission decisions are made following the receipt of all of the student’s documentation. Official notification of admission, and any conditions attached to that admission, is sent by email to the applicant by the Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies. Correspondence or notification from other sources does not constitute official notice of admission.

Acceptance of Formal Admission to the Ph.D. Program
To formally accept the invitation of admission, the potential doctoral student must respond within thirty days of the date of acceptance by sending back the required documents including the signed Learning Contract to the Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies’ Faculty Support Coordinator. Once the required materials are received by the department, the student becomes a doctoral student in the Ph.D. Counselor Education and Supervision Program. Upon admission, new students are placed in the Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision (CES) Center, which is under the Organizations tab in the Blackboard. Within the CES Center, students:

- may join the Doctoral Student Peer Mentoring Discussion Board,
- review upcoming events and announcements,
- complete the required Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision Orientation Course and Orientation Quiz,
- upload required documents
  - Learning Contract
  - Liability Insurance
  - Personal Counseling Referral Information
  - CastleBranch Background Check
  - Verification of Counseling License (or verification of one year of clinical experience).

3.2 Matriculation Requirements
Students must meet all admission requirements to matriculate into the program, including completion of their graduate degree with a 3.25. Students accepted into the program prior to degree conferral must complete their graduate degree before they can matriculate into the program (See Preliminary Acceptance). We do not matriculate students under dual enrollment.
3.3 Special Student (Non-Degree) Status
A non-degree seeking student may take up to twelve hours in the program. Applicants for special student status must submit official transcripts, a special student application, a letter of intent stating a willingness to meet all course requirements and participate in the class, the required APA Paper, and two approved letters of recommendation. Special status students must receive permission from the Program Director to take a Ph.D. Core course.

3.4 Transfer of Credits
A maximum of 50% of a post-graduate and doctoral degree may be transferred if approved and allowable, including credit from an earned degree from Liberty University on the same academic level.
Transfer of coursework for post-master’s degree coursework may be granted for the Ph.D. Program if the following requirements are met:
1. Courses must be comparable (80%) to the courses required in the Ph.D. CES program
2. Courses must carry a grade of at least a B
3. Courses must be part of a student’s post-master’s study, in other words, the courses are doctoral level or upper-level post-master’s work: 700-900 level
4. Coursework must have been completed within the five years prior to the student’s date of admission
5. Coursework is not part of a completed degree. Correspondence studies or life experiences will not be accepted for transfer credit.

It is the responsibility of each applicant to supply transcripts along with a request to have the credit applied to the Ph.D. Program. Students may be requested to submit the syllabus for any coursework being considered for transfer along with a rationale of why the student believes that the course meets the Ph.D. Program’s requirements.
Academic Policies

4.1 Course Format
Although the program is classified as an online program, it is designed so that all the core doctoral courses are delivered in a blended format (16 weeks online with a one-week residential intensive). This helps ensure that faculty meet the gatekeeping responsibility of assessing the character, knowledge, and skills of students. As such, students participate in both classroom and online coursework activities during the 16-week semester as outlined below:

Campus-Based Instruction: Students in the Counselor Education and Supervision program fulfill the classroom component of the courses in the intensive format. During the intensive week, students meet Monday through Thursday from 8:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. with an hour for lunch. Friday course hours are from 8:00 a.m. until 12:00 p.m. Students must enroll prior to the start of each semester for a given course. They must complete the required pre-intensive assignments prior to beginning class. Students who do not complete the required pre-course work will not be permitted to attend the intensive. Students are expected to enter the first class session with the necessary textbooks, course syllabus, and completed pre-class assignments. Students may be required to complete group assignments after class hours. In most cases, major exams will not be given during the week of class, unless specifically stated in the course syllabus and pre-class information. Under no circumstances can students miss any portion of the week-long intensive.

Blackboard-Based Instruction: All courses involve online participation using the Blackboard® platform for the duration of each semester. In addition to class time, students are expected to actively participate during the pre and post intensive portions of the class over the duration of each 16-week course. Students interact with other doctoral students taking the same course, utilize links to online resources, view supplemental streaming video clips, and receive direct feedback from their professors using this innovative means of delivery.

4.2 Program of Study
The Program of Study is a road map through the Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision Program. Once entrance to the Ph.D. Program is ascertained, students gain access to the Ph.D. Counselor Education and Supervision (CES) Center, found under the Organizations tab on the student’s Blackboard, where they complete the New Student Orientation and Orientation Test to ensure full understanding of Ph.D. Program requirements and Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies expectations.

In addition to the Orientation Test, students post Liability Insurance, CastleBranch Background Check, Personal Counseling Referral Information, the Ph.D. Learning Contract, and Verification of Counseling License (or of one year of clinical experience). These tasks are required prior to registration for courses.
The doctoral program curriculum includes required coursework, non-course requirements, Qualifying Examination, Practicum, three Internships, Candidacy Examination (Learning Outcomes Portfolio), and original Dissertation Research. Students have up to seven years to complete all the CES Ph.D. Program requirements. Faculty advisors, academic advisors, and advanced doctoral student mentors are available at all times to support students in developing proficiency in all learning outcomes.

The following is an outline of the course of study, including pre-requisite Master’s level foundational competency requirements, core and specialization courses, examinations, fieldwork, and scholarly research. In addition to course requirements, students must also meet non-course related requirements that ensure proper preparation for leadership roles in the field of counseling. These are listed below and should be included in doctoral students Candidacy Examination/Learning Outcomes Portfolio.

4.3 Clinical Prerequisite Courses

Students admitted without clinical prerequisite courses may begin their Ph.D. coursework. However, they may only enroll in the pre-Qualifying Examination courses until all clinical prerequisite coursework is completed:

1. COUC 715
2. COUC 740

Clinical prerequisites can be taken at Liberty University or any regionally accredited college or university.

4.4 Core Courses

Students complete the two pre-Qualifying Examination courses (COUC 715 and COUC 740) first, and then take the Qualifying Exam. After passing the Qualifying Examination, students proceed in the Ph.D. Program. Students may request to take post Qualifying Examination courses prior to passing the Qualifying Examination, but do so at their own risk. This is risky because students who do not pass the Qualifying Examination within two attempts are dismissed from the Ph.D. Program, whether or not they elected to take post Qualifying Examination courses. It is not suggested that students take post-Qualifying Examination courses prior to the passing the Qualifying Examination; however, this is offered as an option for those whose financial aid benefits require continual enrollment each term.

The Core consists of the following 33 hours of prescribed coursework:

Practicum and Internship courses in the Ph.D. in Counseling and Supervision Program are designed to facilitate students’ skills as effective and active leaders in the counseling field, which include teaching, supervision, leadership and advocacy, research, and advanced counseling roles and functions.

Practicum and Internship and non-course experiences throughout the Ph.D. in Counseling and Supervision Program are designed to facilitate students’ skills as effective and involved leaders in the counseling field. As such, doctoral students are encouraged to engage in collaborative mentoring opportunities with department faculty throughout their doctoral journey including research, scholarship, conference involvement and presentations, administrative opportunities, Ph.D. Program Review, etc. Opportunities for involvement are continually communicated through the Ph.D. Counselor Education and Supervision Center. All new announcements posted in the Center are also sent via e-mail to all students.

4.9 Qualifying Examination
After successful completion of COUC 715 and 740, all students must take the Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision Qualifying Examination. The purpose of the Qualifying Examination is to assess the student’s progress and ability to grasp the knowledge and level of scholarship required to succeed in the Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision Program.

The Qualifying Exam consists of two essay questions pertaining to (1) Advanced Counseling Theory and Practice and (2) Research Design and Statistics. All answers are expected to have primary sources cited with titles, dates, and authors relevant to the subject matter. Typed answers should strictly follow the APA 7th Edition Publication Manual. To be adequately prepared for the Qualifying Exam, students should be able to answer questions pertaining to the following Core Courses:

1. COUC 715: Advanced Theory Application
2. COUC 740: Advanced Research Design

The Qualifying Examination is a proctored, closed book and notes examination. Students are given six hours to complete the examination. Students who fail one or both areas of the Qualifying Examination must retake those areas no sooner than 3 months following the previous attempt. The student cannot continue taking courses until passing the entire exam. Failure on the second attempt on any or all sections of the Qualifying Examination will result in dismissal from the Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision Program.

For further information about the Qualifying Examination and to review the Qualifying Examination Grading Rubric see the Qualifying Examination Manual, posted on the website at: http://www.liberty.edu/index.cfm?PID=24894

4.10 Practicum
After passing the Qualifying Examination and prior to Internship, an approved Practicum experience is required for all students enrolled in the Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision Program. To enroll in Practicum, students must complete all Clinical Prerequisites and Foundational Competencies (COUC 715, 740, and 969). Practicum (COUC 998) consists of 100 clock hours. The student and the Clinical Director and Practicum/Internship Administrators (Dr. Johnson: sgjohnson@liberty.edu) work together to determine the nature of, and requirements for, the Practicum experience (see the Ph.D. Practicum Manual, posted on the website: http://www.liberty.edu/index.cfm?PID=34690 for further information).

4.11 Internship (Three 200-Hour Internships)
The doctoral internship experience is one of the capstone events in the doctoral student’s program of study. During the 600-hour internship, students gain supervised experience in the activities of a regularly employed professional in the field of counselor education. Under the mentorship of faculty and site supervisors, students will continue to develop the personal qualities, characteristics, and behaviors of a professional counselor, supervisor, counselor educator, researcher, and leader/advocate as they transition from “Doctoral Student” to “Counselor Educator.” To provide students with a well-rounded experience, the internship must include supervised experiences in three of the five doctoral competencies: teaching (required), supervision (required), clinical practice, research, or leadership and advocacy. Students’ professional growth and development are ongoing processes, and key patterns for this growth are established during the supervised internship experiences. For a comprehensive understanding of the three required internships, see the internship manuals posted at:
http://www.liberty.edu/academics/behavioralsciences/counseling/index.cfm?PID=37853

4.12 Candidacy Examination Portfolio
From the start of their program, doctoral students work on their Candidacy Examination Portfolio and plan to have it completed after the following program milestones: the Qualifying Examination, Core Courses, Advanced Clinical Mental Health courses, Practicum, and Internship. This capstone activity requires students to present an overview of their professional development as a counselor educator to their Doctoral Faculty Advising Committee. The Candidacy Examination Portfolio reflects the student’s proficiency in the Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision Program Learning Outcomes, readiness for the rigors of Dissertation Research, and solidity as a counselor-leader. For a complete description of the Candidacy Examination and the Candidacy Examination Grading Rubric students should consult the Ph.D. Counselor Education Candidacy Manual at http://www.liberty.edu/index.cfm?PID=33651

4.13 Dissertation Research
Each candidate for the Doctoral degree in Counselor Education and Supervision must prepare and defend a Dissertation. The Dissertation is a scholarly project that represents the results of original and significant empirical research of publication quality. The candidate must demonstrate the ability to conceive, design, conduct, and interpret independent and original research related to the counseling field. The Dissertation is the culmination of the Doctoral Program and is overseen by the student’s Dissertation Chair and Dissertation Committee Members. The Dissertation Committee (Chair and two Committee Members) provides continual assistance, guidance, and timely feedback throughout the process of completing the Dissertation.

Students ascertain their Dissertation Chair and register for COUC 989: Dissertation Proposal and Research after completing all of their required coursework (some students enter this phase while still completing the Internship). It is University Policy that students must continually remain registered for COUC 989 during the Doctoral Dissertation process (six credits [2 terms] are required but some students need more time to complete their research project and must therefore continually register for COUC 989 for additional terms until done). When the student’s Dissertation Chair gives permission to do so, the student will register for their final 3 credit hours in the Ph.D. CES program: COUC 990 Dissertation Defense.

All Doctoral students must orally defend their Dissertation Proposal and their Final Dissertation project. The Dissertation Defense is scheduled when the student’s Doctoral Dissertation Chair and Committee Members all approve of moving forward with the Final Defense. Successful completion of the Dissertation Defense results in awarding the student with the Doctoral Degree (if all other degree requirements are met).

Per the Graduate School, the following steps must be completed before a student receives a final grade in COUC 990:

1. Student defends the dissertation
2. Student completes all edits the dissertation committee requests
3. Chair provides final approval
4. Student gets the dissertation professionally edited
5. Student uploads the dissertation to ProQuest through the library
6. Student forwards the email they receive from the library confirming the dissertation manuscript was successfully uploaded to the library to their chair
7. Student also posts a copy of the confirmation email from the library in the CES Center
8. Chair posts the passing grade for COUC 990 (the grade should not be posted until steps 1-7 are completed
9. Chair emails the Ph.D. CES program director with the following information:
   a. Student name and LUID
   b. Chair name and LUID
   c. Reader names and LUID
   d. Semester Course

Note: no student can graduate prior to receiving a passing grade in COUC 990, completing their Candidacy Examination, and fulfilling all other graduation requirements as outlined in the Ph.D. Handbook.

4.14 Professional Identity Competencies
As future leaders in the field of counseling, Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision students develop a strong sense of counselor identity by engaging in activities that enhance leadership competence and professional identity in Counseling, Counselor Education, Supervision, Research, Scholarship, and Leadership/Advocacy. Many of these competencies can only be developed through involvement in counseling professional associations, organizations, and activities. To promote doctoral students’ professional identity and functioning competencies, students in the Ph.D. Program submit appropriate documentation (i.e., e-mail receipt of evidence of ACA Membership; e-mail reflecting proposal acceptance) of the following professional activities:

- Membership in Professional Counseling organizations, including the American Counseling Association (ACA)/ACA Divisions (See http://www.counseling.org/aboutus/divisions-regions-and-branches/divisions for a list ACA Divisions).

- Professional Licensure (If entered the program with incomplete licensure requirements) or close to completion of residency requirements

- Involvement with legislative or social advocacy (opportunities can be found on the ACA website)

- Attendance at two or more State or National Counseling Conferences (full conference not a workshop)

- Proficiency in electronic course management system and computer technology skills (i.e., teaching assistance in a faculty section of a Blackboard course; developing a counselor education course assignment that involves technology [i.e., creating a website])

- Participation in Counselor Education Program Evaluation (i.e., design a student survey about the program and collect survey data; conduct a focus group with interview questions)

- Manuscript submitted for publication in peer reviewed counseling journal (note the submission does not need to be accepted for publication)

- Scholarly presentation submitted to a state, regional, national, or international counseling conference

- Department or outside department research/scholarship involvement: Participation in collaborative research/scholarship with mentoring other (i.e., research study design, data collection/analysis, manuscript preparation, etc.)

- Assist program faculty teaching a graduate course in counselor education or present in a graduate level counselor education class.

Faculty in the Ph.D. Program support students in developing these competencies.
Students who maintain a 3.5 Grade Point Average are encouraged to join Chi Sigma Iota (CSI), the International Honor Society for counseling students. They are invited by our Faculty Sponsors to join the Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies chapter of CSI, the Rho Eta chapter. CSI promotes excellence in counseling leadership functions (i.e., research, scholarship, professionalism).

4.15 Faculty Advising
The Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies faculty and leadership are committed to a mentoring model of developing counseling leaders. To promote faculty/student collaboration, each doctoral student is assigned to an advising committee consisting of faculty advisors. Students get to know and work with their advisors to plan and discuss their knowledge, skills, and performance in the doctoral program. Additionally, students collaborate with program faculty in various counselor education, supervision, research, scholarship, and advocacy roles throughout their Ph.D. Program. Students are encouraged to connect with their advisors regularly.

4.16 Ph.D. Program Progression
The process through which a student moves to graduation involves the following stages:

Inquiry Stage: The student makes an inquiry concerning the program, receives program information from the University, and begins the process of completing an application.

Hold Stage: The student has applied and is waiting for feedback regarding acceptance status.

Acceptance Stage: The student is accepted into the Ph.D. Program. Students are notified about their acceptance status in writing. Students must respond within twenty-one (21) days of the date of acceptance, acknowledging intent to enter the program and agreeing to adhere to the particulars of the Admission Contract. Once the contract materials are returned to the office administrator, students receive access to the Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision Center, which is under the Organizations tab in the Blackboard, to complete the required Orientation course and Quiz and to post their Learning Contract, Liability Insurance, Personal Counseling Referral Information, CastleBranch Background Check, and Verification of Counseling Licensure (or of one year of clinical experience).

Orientation Stage: Students complete the Orientation and Orientation Quiz, post required documents, and then register for the pre-Qualifying Exam Ph.D. course(s) or, if any are required, pre-requisite M.A. entry level competency course(s). Students register for their first course by contacting their assigned academic advisor at phdcounseling@liberty.edu

Pre-requisite Completion Stage: If students have required M.A. entry level clinical pre-requisite courses to take, as outlined on their Admission Contract, these must be completed before registration is permitted for Ph.D. courses.
Pre-Qualifying Examination Core Stage: Students complete Pre-Qualifying Exam Core Courses (COUC 715 and COUC 740).

Qualifying Stage: After completing the required COUC 715 and COUC 740, students register to take the Qualifying Examination by contacting Mrs. Bonnie Gould at bcsmith@liberty.edu. Students must pass both sections of the Qualifying Examination before taking further coursework (see Qualifying Examination section for further details).

Doctoral Student: Following the successful completion of the Qualifying Examination, students are awarded the designation of “Doctoral Student” and take the remainder of the Core Courses and Advanced Clinical Mental Health course requirements.

Practicum Stage: Students may take the Practicum after they pass the Qualifying Examination. Students work collaboratively with the Director of Clinical Training to develop their Practicum experience (Dr. Johnson: sgjohnson2@liberty.edu).

Candidacy Examination Stage: The Candidacy Examination is a program-learning outcomes-based portfolio that is developed throughout the duration of the program and is evaluated by the Faculty Advising Committee after all Core Courses, Advanced Clinical Mental Health course requirements, the Practicum and Internship, and Non-Course Related Requirements are completed.

Doctoral Candidate Stage: Following the successful completion of the Candidacy Examination, students are awarded the designation of “Doctoral Candidate” and take their Dissertation Research course requirements.

Dissertation Stage: After a student passes the Candidacy Examination, s/he registers for COUC 989 (for at least two consecutive terms; 6 credits) under their Dissertation Chair/Advisor until the Dissertation Defense is scheduled. A Student must register each subsequent term for COUC 989 until the Dissertation is Defense ready. At that time the Committee Chair will approve the student to register for COUC 990: Dissertation Defense (3 credit hours). The Defense is the culmination of the program and the last stage before graduation.

Graduation Stage: The department requires that a student successfully completes

1. All required coursework with a grade of B or better
2. The Qualifying Examination
3. All Ph.D. Non-Course Requirements
4. The Candidacy Examination
5. The Dissertation and Oral Defense

Students must also review the Liberty University Graduate School website for additional requirements that may apply.
4.17 Break in Enrollment
Once admitted to the PhD CES program, students must remain continually enrolled. Continual enrollment involves taking at least one course per academic year. Students who do not register for and complete at least one course per academic year lose their enrolled status in the program. During the Dissertation Phase, the student must register for COUC 989 every term until their Dissertation Defense is scheduled.

Students who break enrollment must reapply to the Ph.D. Program. Note that students who break enrollment are not guaranteed re-entrance to the program. If readmitted, students will be held responsible for the requirements under the most current Graduate Catalog and Degree Completion Plan.

If graduate study is interrupted by active military service or the equivalent, as much as two years of that time will not count toward the time limit for the degree. In such an event, an official letter from the appropriate agency should be sent to the Ph.D. Program Director to document the interruption. There are no other exceptions to this policy.

4.18 Course Repeat Policy
As Gatekeepers to the field of counseling, the faculty and leadership are responsible to ensure academic and ethical competency and excellence. To this end, the degree of scholarship required by students in the program is high. While all course grades are averaged into students’ Grade Point Average (GPA), course credit toward degree completion is not granted for a grade of C, D, or F. Any student who earns a grade of D or F in any course will not be permitted to retake the course and will be academically dismissed from the Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision Program. If a student earns a grade of C in any course in the Ph.D. Program, he or she will be placed on Academic and Registration Hold. This policy includes, but is not limited to, clinical prerequisite courses taken after admittance into the program, core courses, elective courses, or any other required course as determined by faculty.

The student may petition the Admissions Committee for permission to retake the course by sending them a professionally written letter that:

- states the grade received;
- explains why the C was earned, instead of a B or an A;
- expresses understanding of and commitment to the level of scholarship required in the Ph.D. Program;
- expresses understanding that his/her Ph.D. Program will remain on hold until s/he repeats the course and earns a grade of B or better; and
- communicates understanding that any subsequent C earned in the Ph.D. Program will result in dismissal from the Ph.D. Program (One C Only Repeat Policy).
The letter of petition should be attached to an email addressed to Mrs. Cindy Morrow (cjmorrow@liberty.edu) with the subject line stating: Petition for Course Repeat for the Ph.D. Director and the Admissions Committee. It is the student’s responsibility to initiate sending this letter. Failure to submit the letter within 30 days of receiving the grade will result in an Academic Dismissal from the Ph.D. Program. If a student is granted permission to retake the course, any subsequent grade of C earned in the Ph.D. Program will result in Academic Dismissal from the Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision Program.

4.19 Statute Of Limitations
The counseling profession is ever evolving. To ensure that graduates are up to date in evidence-based practices in counseling leadership roles, the time allowed to complete the Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision is limited. The time limit for completing the Ph.D. degree is seven (7) years, which begins the year of admission to the Ph.D. Program.

4.20 Leave Of Absence
A student in good academic standing may request two leaves of absence from graduate study for a stated period (up to one-year) during which the student will not make academic progress. Reasons for a leave of absence include, but are not limited to, a medical/mental health problem or a family crisis. To request a leave, the student must submit a letter to the Ph.D. Program Director stating the reason for the leave and proposed timeframe. Leaves due to a medical or mental health issue must be documented by a letter from the treating professional(s). Students must obtain approval in writing from the Ph.D. Program Director documenting authorization of the leave before the leave is activated.

4.21 Graduation
Liberty University Graduate School offers two types of honors for graduating Doctoral Students. The first level of honors, Graduation with Distinction is for students whose cumulative GPA is 3.90-3.94. Students whose cumulative GPA is 3.95 to 4.0 receive a Graduation with High Distinction honor. Each designation is awarded its own unique regalia accessory and will be acknowledged in the Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies Graduation bulletin.

4.22 American Psychological Association Format
The counseling profession endorses the use of the Publication of the American Psychological Association (APA) for the formatting of all publications. Therefore, the Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies APA formatting and writing style for all submitted course and Dissertation work. The rules that reflect the most recent edition of the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association are required.

Financial Policies
5.1 Tuition and Fees
All students pay a non-refundable Application Fee or Reapplication Fee of $50. Other fees include a Technology Fee of $199 per semester. Currently, the tuition for Ph.D. Courses is $595 per credit hour for full-time students (2 or more courses per semester or 6 hours) and $650 per credit hour for part-time students (1 course per semester or 3 hours). Tuition for Clinical Prerequisites is the same as for Ph.D. courses for doctoral students currently in the Ph.D. Program. Students are responsible to check for updates to tuition requirements by consulting the LEO Admissions website http://www.liberty.edu/online/doctoral/philosophy-counseling/.

5.2 Financial Aid
For current information about financial aid, please refer to:
http://www.liberty.edu/financeadmin/financialaid/index.cfm?PID=294

Student Expectations

6.1 Professional Organizations
As future leaders in the counseling field, faculty expect student involvement in the counseling profession through membership and participation in the American Counseling Association (ACA) and the ACA National, State, and Local Divisions as outlined in the Professional Identity Competencies (see page 19). Additional opportunities for counseling leadership involvement include the American Association of Christian Counselors (AACC) and other related associations of interest. Most professional organizations offer reduced membership rates to students as well as the following:
- benefits such as access and receipt of their professional publications (journals and newsletters)
- reduced registration fees for professional meetings (seminars, conventions, workshops) that are sponsored by the particular organization
- eligibility for member services (library resource use, legal defense funds and services, group liability insurance)
- opportunities to present research and scholarship related to the field, involvement in activities and issues which are directly or indirectly pertinent to the profession (legislation and professional credentialing including licensure, certification);
- affiliation with other professionals having interests and areas of expertise similar to one’s own; and the opportunity to fellowship and network.

6.2 Academic Honesty & Plagiarism
Liberty University holds its students to high standards of ethics. One significant area of integrity in academics is honesty. Students are expected to submit only their own work.

Furthermore, students are expected not to give nor receive assistance of any kind that is not specifically permitted on graded assignments or examinations. For more information on the Academic Code of Honor and Personal Code of Honor, see the Graduate Student Code of Honor found at the Graduate Student Affairs website: http://www.liberty.edu/index.cfm?PID=19155

Most assignments submitted throughout the Ph.D. Program are automatically processed through the university plagiarism software program (SafeAssign). Additionally, faculty are required to report all incidences of academic dishonesty/misconduct. Students who are academically dishonest/participate in academic misconduct will face consequences ranging from a failing grade on the assignment to dismissal from the Ph.D. Program and Liberty University. Such consequences are determined by the Program Faculty, Ph.D. Program Director, Department Chair, Associate Dean, School of Behavioral Sciences Dean, Dean of the Graduate School, and University Provost. Students who engage in these practices will face disciplinary action as outlined in the Liberty University Online Honor Code on the Graduate Student Affairs website: http://www.liberty.edu/index.cfm?PID=19155

6.3 Academic Appeal Policy
In circumstances where a student disagrees with either a course final grade or a sanction due to an Honor Code violation, students have the right to appeal the grade or sanction through the Office of Student Affairs. The procedure followed for academic misconduct, personal misconduct, or grade appeals is outlined at the Graduate Student Affairs website: http://www.liberty.edu/index.cfm?PID=19155.

6.4 Grievance Procedure
All faculty, staff, and students of the Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies shall perform their duties and studies according to the policies of Liberty University. Students, faculty, or staff members who believe that a student, faculty member, or staff member has not acted according to these program, departmental, or university policies are encouraged to contact the student, faculty member, or staff member directly to informally resolve the situation (cf. Matthew 18).

If the student, faculty member, or staff member cannot achieve a resolution of the issue, the complainant should notify the Ph.D. Program Director. The submitted documentation should include a description of the perceived problem behavior and all attempted solutions. A copy of the complaint will be given to the student, faculty member, or staff member about whom the complaint has been written. The Ph.D. Program Director may then meet with the parties involved, separately or together, may convene a faculty or staff meeting to resolve the issue, and/or may request a recommendation from other University personnel. All decisions will be recorded in writing and signed by all parties. Complainants who are not satisfied with the action of the Ph.D. Program Director as specified above may avail themselves of the grievance procedures delineated in university policies.
6.5 Faculty-Student Interaction
The faculty in the Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies are dedicated to mentoring doctoral students in leadership roles. Many opportunities are provided for both formal and informal interaction among students and faculty. It is expected that both faculty and students will conduct themselves in a professional manner in all interactions.

In the event of a student’s disclosure, either verbally, or in writing, of either threat of serious or foreseeable harm to self or others, abuse or neglect of a minor, elderly or disabled person, or current involvement in criminal activity, the faculty, staff, administrator or supervisor, will take immediate action. This action may include but is not limited to, immediate notification of appropriate state law enforcement or social services personnel, emergency contacts, and notification of the program director or department chair. The incident and action taken will become part of the student’s permanent record.

6.6 Behavioral Standards
Students enrolled in the Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision Program at Liberty University are preparing for a leadership career that requires the highest standards of practice, research, scholarship and community advocacy. Therefore, appropriate behavior should be evident in all communications (e.g., verbal, written in discussion boards, emails) with other students, Liberty University staff and faculty, site Practicum and Internship Personnel, and of course clients. Failure to demonstrate professionally sound behavior could jeopardize the student’s status in the program.

Specifically, the Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies faculty expects students enrolled in the Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision Program to demonstrate the following behavioral standards:

1. A willingness and ability to acquire and integrate professional standards into one’s repertoire of professional behavior. Students must conduct themselves with an awareness that their conduct, personal appearance, attitudes, values, and behavior influence client, peer, and public opinions. They are expected to demonstrate professionalism so these constituencies view them in a manner consistent with the spirit of Liberty University and the counseling profession.

2. An ability to acquire leadership and professional skills to reach an acceptable level of competency. The Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies provides a learning environment in which students become vulnerable as they test out new behaviors and acquire new skills as counselor leaders. Students who convey the attitude that they are not teachable are not suited for doctoral education.

3. A willingness and ability to give appropriate feedback and to receive and integrate feedback from faculty, supervisors, and peers. Students are expected to be open to receiving feedback from others, including verbal or written comments in private or public settings. A teachable and open attitude is expected of all students. Thus, regardless of the quality of the feedback, students are expected to consider the possibility that valuable feedback is found in the comments. Students aware of another student’s behavior or performance that violates the Liberty University Honor Code, the American Counseling Association’s Ethics Code, and the Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies behavioral standards have a responsibility to intervene. This includes notifying program faculty and/or the program director.

4. An ability to control personal stress, psychological dysfunction, and/or excessive emotional reactions that interfere with personal, professional or interpersonal functioning. Counseling is an interpersonal profession in which counselor leaders are provided with a level of influence upon their domains of practice. Therefore, it is essential that they are not impaired by intrapersonal or interpersonal liabilities. Students are expected to monitor their own behavior and address any personal issues that might impair their performance in academic or counseling settings or jeopardize the well-being of faculty, staff, clients, or peers. Students are encouraged to discuss personal concerns about themselves as well as their ability to function in academic and counseling settings with academic and faculty advisors, clinical supervisors and/or with any member of the faculty. Although it is a goal of the Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies to help students reach their professional goals it remains the primary responsibility of the faculty to protect the public, the student body, and the profession.

5. A lifestyle that is consistent with a Christian testimony. It is expected that students will conduct themselves in a manner that reflects Christian love (e.g., John 13:34-35; Philippians 2:2-4; Colossians 3:14-15; James 2:8; 1 Peter 4:8-10; 1 John 4:7-8). Feedback to others should be given in the most professional and Christ-like manner possible. In keeping with the apostle Paul’s teachings, students are expected to get along with others as much as possible (cf. Romans 12:18), to not hold grudges (cf. 1 Corinthians 13:4-7; Ephesians 4:31-32; Leviticus 19:17-18), and to encourage one another (1 Thessalonians 5:11). A mark of spirituality and psychological maturity is loving the unlovable and demonstrating the fruit of the spirit (Galatians 5:22-23). Though we all struggle to live the Christian life as we should, especially when under stress, we are to challenge ourselves to pursue holiness.

6. Professional Development & Administrative Review

Ethical Conduct
All students in the Ph.D. Counselor Education and Supervision program are responsible to behave in an ethical manner throughout their training, as well as in clinical and professional settings. Violations of the ACA Code of Ethics, the Graduate Student Honor Code, or the Liberty Way; and/or failure to take steps to rectify violations, are considered extremely serious and may result in termination from the program.

Although students are expected to adhere to the ACA Code of Ethics, the Graduate Student Honor Code, and the Liberty Way as a guide to their behavior throughout their program, reading these guidelines is just the beginning of understanding professional ethics. Being an ethical counselor-in-training involves understanding the underlying principles and values associated with professional Code of Ethics. These are built upon a strong commitment to biblical principles, developing a set of beliefs that guide one’s everyday practice, being able to discern potential as well as realized ethical problematic situations, and having the character to stand by these when faced with challenging situations.

This is an essential component of the candidate’s professional development. For behaviors that constitute a violation of the University’s Honor Code, the candidate’s professor will complete the Honor Code Violation form and send it to the faculty mentor, who will document the incident in the candidate’s record and inform the program director, then forward the form to the Associate Dean, who may involve Liberty University Online and Graduate Student Affairs. Candidates are given an opportunity to appeal.

Professional Development: To successfully complete the Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision program at Liberty University and be eligible for graduation, a student must be able demonstrate proficiency in five areas:

1. Attainment of scholastic competency in all coursework as evaluated through the assessment of CES standards, the Qualifying Examination (see section 2.12 of handbook) given after completing pre-qualifying core classes, the Candidacy Examination (see section 2.15 of handbook) given prior to dissertation research and writing, the Dissertation defense (see section 2.16 of handbook) completed at the end of the Ph.D. Program, and by maintaining an overall GPA of 3.0.

2. Acquisition of, and ability to apply advanced counseling, teaching, and supervision skills with a diverse population and to a standard acceptable by licensed professional counselor educators and supervisors. These skills are evaluated throughout the Ph.D. Program and ultimately by successful completion of the Candidacy/Portfolio Examination.

3. Demonstration of emotional and mental stability and maturity in interaction with others, including the ability to maintain healthy boundaries, communicate appropriately, successfully manage personal anxiety or uncomfortable feelings, work collaboratively with others, and resolve interpersonal conflict. This proficiency is evaluated throughout the program in all interactions with faculty, staff, administrators, supervisors, adjuncts, and fellow students; including both verbal and written communications.

4. Adherence to the Professional Identity and Standards as outlined by the American Counseling Association’s Code of Ethics and the Liberty Graduate Student Code of Honor. This proficiency is evaluated during the program in all interactions with faculty, staff, administrators, supervisors, adjuncts, and fellow students; including both verbal and written communications.
1. Demonstration of the ability to work within the worldview of diverse clients and integrate faith and spirituality into counseling where appropriate in an ethically competent and culturally sensitive manner.

The counseling faculty will develop and evaluate students in the above areas of proficiency in an ongoing and consistent manner in all settings in which faculty and students interact. This interaction can include formal and informal settings such as classroom, online communication, advising, and personal conversations, as well as written communications. To align with CACREP standards, all students will be evaluated through a rubric, listing the standards and expectations for various assignments in individual courses. This information will be compiled for each student and provide documentation to meet their CACREP requirements for graduation.

Administrative Review

In keeping with the American Counseling Association Code of Ethics (ACA, 2014), Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP, 2016), and Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) requirements, faculty in counselor education programs are required to assess the knowledge, skills, values, and dispositions of students in their programs. Faculty must take action if issues arise that could compromise the well-being of present or future clients. The following summarizes the School of Behavioral Sciences' procedures for assessing these competencies.

Behavioral Concerns at Practicum, Internship, and Field Placement Sites

If, during the Practicum or Internship or Field Placement, a student fails to successfully demonstrate the required skills, professional behaviors, or personal or professional dispositions in this course and/or receives failing evaluations, is dismissed from the site, or is found practicing at a site without having received approval by the department for the site, the site supervisor will notify the student’s professor. The professor will write an incident report and send it to the Program Director and the department's Internship/Field education Office. The Program Director, the Director of Clinical Training, and the Leadership Team will examine the nature and reason for the skills deficit, professional behaviors, or dispositions and/or site dismissal and recommend a course of action, which could include Remediation and/or the Office of Community Life. Administrative Review is appropriate when a student's behavior is so concerning and/or nonprofessional that prompt protective action is required (see below section “Administrative Review for Behavioral Intervention”).

Note: The steps within this section are specifically designed to address unique aspects of practicum and internships, and certain steps in this section may overlap with those of other processes. For instance, the practicum or internship professor’s submission of an incident report to the Program Director and Internship Office and their examination of the incident report will satisfy the early and secondary stages of the remediation process (i.e., remediation stages 1-3). Also note that remediation can be engaged at any step, as the School of Behavioral Sciences deems appropriate.
If a failing evaluation or dismissal from the site involves a violation of the University’s Honor Code, the professor will fill out an Honor Code Violation form, which will be investigated by the Program Director and the Office of Community Life. At any point in this process, the student may receive a grade of “F” based on the skills deficit, professional behaviors, or personal or professional dispositions, dismissal from their site, and/or failure to follow approval policies. The student will be placed on hold in the program pending the outcome of any ongoing process(es) (e.g., Administrative Review, the remediation process, the disciplinary process, and/or grade appeals process).

For violations that do not result in dismissal from the program, the remediation process can include requiring the student to retake certain courses, seek personal counseling, etc. If, after remediation, the student is unable to correct the deficits, the Remediation Committee will meet to decide the best course of action for the student, up to and including an “F” for the course and dismissal from the program. The final decision regarding whether the student is eligible to retake the Internship and disposition of the hours accrued during the Internship are at the discretion of the Leadership Team and based on a thorough evaluation of the incident.

Note: When necessary, the Department may immediately remove a student from the site upon notification of concerning behavior by the supervisor. During the remediation process, the student has an opportunity to appeal interim actions following Administrative Review, grades, honor code violations, and dismissals in accordance with the procedures outlined for the applicable process(es). See, for example, Appeals Policy (Section 6.3) and the appeal sections below for information on the appeal process. Please consult the Practicum Field Manual and Internship Field Manual for additional information.

Administrative Review for Behavioral Intervention

There may be times when School of Behavioral Sciences faculty determines that a student’s behavior is so concerning and/or non-professional, regardless of whether the student is making satisfactory academic progress, that prompt protective action is required. This is especially true when students are interacting with clients in a clinical setting. In such situations, the program director will place the student on Administrative Review.

As part of Administrative Review, the program director will review all of the available and relevant evidence to determine an appropriate interim action to address the concerning behavior, which may include an interim suspension of the student from courses, internships, or clinical placements. The program director may, in his or her discretion, also apply a registration hold to prevent the student from registering for courses, internships, or clinical placements (and potentially, therefore, from progressing in the program) until the behavior at issue has been resolved. The interim action should be narrowly tailored to address the concerning behavior such that it places as few restrictions as possible on the student and only as determined necessary to address the concerning behavior. Interim actions should also balance the School of Behavioral Sciences’ gatekeeping function of protecting others with promoting the student’s best interest.
Administrative Review is protective, not disciplinary, in nature. Interim actions will remain in place until the program director (in consultation with the student and faculty) determines both that the concerning behavior has been resolved and that any pending processes to address the student’s behavior are complete (e.g., the remediation process or a disciplinary matter in the Office of Community Life or the Office of Equity and Compliance).

Within 48 hours of the program director’s decision to initiate the Administrative Review, the program director will notify the student in writing, which may include email, of (1) the initiation of the Administrative Review, (2) the interim action(s) imposed, and (3) the reason(s) for the Administrative Review. The program director will also notify the Registrar’s Office of the interim action(s), including any registration hold. The student will have an opportunity to review all of the evidence that formed the basis for the interim action(s) and to respond (including the opportunity to present any relevant evidence) to the program director. Once the program director has an opportunity to review all of the available and relevant evidence, the program director will either reverse the interim action(s) or keep the interim action(s) in place pending the outcome of any other processes (e.g., remediation). The program director may refer the student to the Office of Community Life and/or the Remediation Committee. If the student’s behavior cannot be remedied to a point such that the student is qualified to continue in the program, the student may ultimately be dismissed from the program. Should the student decide to appeal the interim action(s) imposed by the program director, the student must follow the appeal procedures below.

Appeal of Interim Action(s) Following Administrative Review

Students who disagree with the interim action(s) imposed by the program director following Administrative Review have an opportunity to appeal. Students must submit the appeal in writing to the Deans of the School of Behavioral Sciences within seven (7) days of receiving the notice of the program director’s decision. The appeal should clearly state the reason(s) the student believes the interim action(s) should be reversed. Once received, the Deans of the School of Behavioral Sciences (or designee) will review all available and relevant evidence and, if determined necessary, speak with the student, the program director, and/or any other person with relevant information. The Deans of the School of Behavioral Sciences (or designee) will endeavor to make a determination within ten (10) days of receiving the appeal. The determination to uphold or reverse the interim action(s) will be sent to the student in writing, and the Deans of the School of Behavioral Sciences (or designee)’s determination concerning the interim action(s) will be final, pending the outcome of any other processes.

6.8 Remediation

If, during the course of a student’s studies, a faculty, staff, administrator or supervisor believes a student lacks required skills, professional behaviors and dispositions to progress in the program, that person will begin remediation procedures aimed to provide the student with information and actions to correct the impairment/deficiency. The purpose of the remediation plan is to assist the student in correcting any deficits in counseling knowledge and skills, as well... as problematic personal, interpersonal, or ethical behaviors so the student may successfully continue in the program. As such, remedial instruction or interventions are closely linked to the students’ developmental growth, recognizing the relationship between the alleviation of deficiencies and the development of new competencies.

We conceptualize remediation in terms of a response continuum based upon the type and severity of students’ limitations, with the need to distinguish between deficient, lacks competence, and impaired:

- Deficient: Requires skill-based and/or academic approach
- Lacks competence: Requires additional ethical practice-based/conceptual approach
- Impaired: Requires additional intervention-based and/or therapeutic approach

The problematic behavior continuum can also be considered along lines of Academic, Clinical, and Personal, with Academic being more related to deficiencies and Personal more related to impairments. Clinical limitations may likely have both Academic and Personal involvement. Additionally, the program response can be considered along a continuum of education, formal remediation, and termination.

Deficient describes those behaviors, attitudes, or characteristics that need to be the focus of attention and change, but are not considered excessive or inappropriate. Rather, they may be important components of the student’s learning experience. At this level, remediation likely involves instruction and feedback to address the deficit.

Lacks Competence describes a deficit in developmentally appropriate clinical competencies that are needed for ethical practice. These would include areas such as performance of counseling skills and/or professional behaviors, attitudes, or characteristics, response to supervision, and/or ability application of ethics into practice. These behaviors are considered to be excessive or inappropriate, requiring remedial action beyond the course instructor or supervisor.

Impairment describes those behaviors that result in a significant negative impact on professional functioning. Impairment is demonstrated by one or more of the following behaviors: (a) an inability and/or unwillingness to acquire and integrate professional standards into their repertoire of professional behavior; (b) an inability to acquire professional skills to reach an acceptable level of competency; (c) an inability to control personal stress, psychological dysfunction and/or excessive emotional reactions that interfere with professional functioning.

The Type and Severity of Limitation are considered when determining the need, if any, for remediation.

Students Determined to be Deficient:
- Inadequate knowledge base commensurate with status in program
• Inadequate, but improving, counseling skills
• Rudimentary ethical processing
• Simplistic, narrow, or disjointed case conceptualization
• Insufficient interpersonal skills and awareness, but willingness to • Develop

Students Determined to Lack Competence:
• Lack of awareness of ethical principles and obligations
• Failure in responsibilities to site and/or supervisor
• Unwillingness/inability to be effective in basic counseling techniques
• Unwillingness/inability to complete appropriate documentation
• Failure to function as effective member of treatment team

Students Determined to be Impaired (not inclusive):
Four Themes:

I. Interpersonal and Personal Problems
   a. Inappropriate interpersonal skills
   b. Lacks self-control (anger, impulse control) in relationships
   c. Inappropriate boundaries
   d. Misleads or exploits others
   a. Lacks awareness of the impact they have on others
   b. Unwilling to receive feedback in supervision
   c. Does not take responsibility for deficiencies and/or problems

II. Professional Competence
   a. Lacks foundational counseling skills
   b. Inappropriate affect in response to clients
   c. Does not recognize limitations of expertise and competence
   d. Does not apply ethical and/or legal standards to practice
   e. Lacks awareness of how their beliefs and values influence practice
   f. Does not demonstrate a respect individual differences and culture

III. Professional Behaviors
   a. Deficits in punctuality, professional appearance, attendance,
   b. dependability
   c. Does not complete appropriate paperwork and
   d. documentation
   e. Does not adhere to the department’s or their clinical site’s
   f. policies

IV. Professional and Personal Integrity and Maturity
   a. Makes false, misleading or deceptive statements
   b. Displayed academic dishonesty
   c. Problems with alcohol/drug use or illegal activities
   d. Inappropriate sexual behavior
   e. Refused to consider personal counseling when recommended
Once the Type and Severity of Limitation are determined, there are several avenues that may be pursued when determining the need, if any, for remediation. Faculty are encouraged to consult with the program director, faculty remediation committee members, and other faculty when deciding the level of severity and which stage to engage the remediation process. Please note that the remediation process is not always linear or sequential. Faculty reserve the right to initiate remediation at whatever stage they deem appropriate for the student.

Early Remediation Process (Stages 1 and 2)
- Faculty or advisor meets with the student
- Determine action plan for addressing deficits
- Follow-up

Secondary Review Remediation Process (Stage 3)
- Notification of meeting with the director
- Assessment of problematic behavior
- Review and development of a plan
- Acceptance or appeal

Formal Remediation Process (Stages 4-6)
- Notification
- Assessment of Problematic Behavior
- Development of a Plan
- Acceptance or Appeal
- Provision if Unsuccessful

Possible Committee Recommendations for a Remediation Plan
- Personal Counseling
- Increased supervision
- Reduced practicum or internship
- Leave of absence
- Formal reprimand
- Formal probation
- Counseling out of the program
- Dismissal from the program

Immediate Interventions:
In the event of a student’s disclosure, either verbally, or in writing, of a threat of serious or foreseeable harm to a person, abuse or neglect of a minor, elderly or disabled person, or current involvement in criminal activity, the faculty, staff, administrator or supervisor, will take immediate action. This action may include, but is not limited to, immediate notification of Liberty University Police Department, appropriate state law enforcement, social services personnel, emergency contacts, and notification of the appropriate program chair or associate Deans. The incident and action taken will become part of the student’s permanent record.

Remediation Process for the PhD in Counselor Education and Supervision:

Note: The remediation plan is designed to protect the student’s rights under University policies and a fair process. In addition, we stress the importance of engaging the student in the remediation process. These principles are infused throughout the School of Behavioral Sciences program’s response continuum. Once a remediation plan is instituted, student response to remediation efforts is considered when deciding student status in the program. All stages of this remediation process will become a part of the student’s record. The description of stages below does not necessarily reflect a sequential process. Rather, the faculty reserve the right to initiate remediation at any Stage 1, 2, 3, or 4-6, based on their assessment of the level of deficit and/or impairment.

Stage 1: Notification by Advisor: When a determination is made by a faculty member that problematic behavior of an academic, clinical, or personal nature exists, and could not be resolved on an informal basis, the faculty member discusses this with the student and her or his advisor. If student problematic behavior is brought to the attention of the department through other means (e.g., from another student, report from university staff, evaluation from supervisor, etc.), the student’s advisor will notify the student and discuss the concerns.

The student and her or his advisor will meet to discuss the problem and collaboratively outline a remedial action plan to address the concerns. This interactive process should allow the student ample opportunity to react to the information presented regarding a problem area. If the problem is resolved, no further action is needed. The advisor will document the meeting, the remedial action plan, and outcome into the student’s personal record. The advisor will follow up with the faculty to ensure that the agreed-to remedial action plan was completed and the behavioral issue was successfully resolved.

If the problem is not resolved at this stage because the student does not engage in the process, disagrees with the validity of the concerns, or does not agree with the remedial action plan, the advisor will notify the program director of the outcome of the meeting. A meeting will then be scheduled with the student’s advisor, the program director, the student, and the concerned faculty member as appropriate. This meeting will be considered a Stage 3 remediation.

Stage 2: Primary Assessment of Problematic Behavior: If the behaviors addressed by the program faculty and the advisor persist, the advisor will again meet with the student and outline, verbally and in writing, the continued nature and extent of problematic behavior. Informal (e.g., interview with student and faculty) and formal (e.g., instruments) may be utilized as part of the assessment process. This includes feedback from the student concerning the outcome of any remedial actions taken by the student in response to the concerns raised during the notification session. When it is apparent that the student is engaged in the process but has not met the goal of the initial remedial action, a collaborative approach involving student engagement will be used to evaluate and refine the remedial action plan. If the problem is successfully resolved, no further formal action is needed. The advisor will document the meeting; outline the agreed adaptations to the remedial action plan; and the outcome. The advisor will follow up with faculty and the program director to ensure that the behavioral issues were successfully resolved and all agreed-to remedial mandates were implemented.

Stage 3: Secondary Assessment of Problematic Behavior: If the faculty advisor or core faculty determine that the student’s behaviors are at a level that requires a formal remediation process (Stage 4) or the student rejects or appeals a remedial action plan, a meeting will be held with the student, his or her advisor, the program director, and referring faculty member (if appropriate). The meeting date will be set to allow the student the opportunity to provide additional evidence to the group for consideration at the meeting. The purpose of the meeting will be to either 1) collaboratively re-assess the problem behavior and develop a remedial action plan or 2) determine that the problem needs to be addressed by the program core faculty through a remediation plan. The program director will document the meeting and outcome. The program director will report the meeting outcome to the faculty Remediation Committee.

Stage 4: Referral to the Remediation Committee: In cases when the outcome of the meeting of the student, advisor(s) and program director results in a decision that the situation should be brought to the Remediation Committee, a meeting of the committee will be scheduled. The student will be informed in advance of the time of this meeting and will have an opportunity to provide additional information or evidence in writing to the committee for consideration at the meeting. Once all information has been presented, the Remediation Committee will decide the level and scope of remediation required to assist the student and develop a formal Remediation Plan.

Stage 5: Development of a Remediation Plan: The Remediation Committee will review the presented information, examine the remedial action plan developed by the student and advisor, evaluate the progress made towards remediating problem behaviors, and develop a formal Remediation Plan. The purpose of the remediation plan is to assist the student in correcting any deficits in counseling skills or personal, interpersonal, or ethical problems so that the student may successfully continue in the program. The elements of the plan will be congruent with the extent of the correction needed. Remediation Plans can include such actions as repeating particular courses, obtaining personal counseling, completing additional assignments, reviewing the ethics code, transferring to a non-licensure program, or academic dismissal from the CEFS select department in the School of Behavioral Sciences or Liberty University.

The program director and/or other designated persons will inform the student of the decision both orally and in writing. The student will have five working days to respond in writing (and orally, if desired) to the recommendation. The committee will review the student’s response to the action decided and will make a final decision regarding the disposition of the case. Should the student file no response to the action, the decision of the committee will be considered as final. The program director and the student's advisor will notify the student in writing and orally of the outcome of the meeting.

Stage 6: Acceptance or Appeal: The student will be given the opportunity to accept the plan of correction or to appeal it. If accepted, the student will follow the plan as developed and regularly report progress to her or his advisor. If not fully resolved, additions, amendments, or extensions to the plan may be implemented. If the problematic behavior is corrected, no further action is needed. Four options are available to faculty when reevaluating the student: (1) continuation in the program, (2) continued probation and remediation, (3) counsel the student out of the program, and (4) dismissal from the program.

Provision if Unsuccessful: If the Remediation Committee determines that remediation is unsuccessful or that the student refuses to comply with the Remediation Plan, the Remediation Committee may recommend to the program director that the student be dismissed from the program.

Final Determination Following Recommendation of Dismissal: Based on the Remediation Committee’s recommendation of dismissal, the program director will either dismiss the student from the program or allow the student to remain in the program until the concerning behavior has been fully addressed to the satisfaction of both the program director and the Remediation Committee. If the student is dismissed from the program, the program director will provide a notice of dismissal to the student in writing. If any interim action(s) were put into place following Administrative Review (e.g., interim suspension or registration hold), those interim action(s) will remain in place. If the program director allows the student to remain in the program, the student must continue to work with the Remediation Committee to address its concerns. Any interim action(s) from Administrative Review will remain in effect, and accordingly, the student should be aware that, if he or she does not reenroll in courses within a certain period of time, he or she may break enrollment and need to re-apply to the program. In those situations, admission is not guaranteed. The student may appeal the program director’s final determination of dismissal. Should the student decide to appeal his or her dismissal, he or she must follow the appeal procedures outlined below.

Appeal of Dismissal: Students who disagree with the program director’s final determination have an opportunity to appeal. The appeal must be submitted in writing to the Deans of the School of Behavioral Sciences within seven (7) days of notification of receiving the notice of the program director’s decision. The appeal should clearly state the reason(s) the student believes the final determination should be overturned. Once received, the Deans of the School of Behavioral Sciences (or designee) will review all relevant evidence and, if necessary, speak with the student, the program director, and any others who have relevant information (e.g., members of the Remediation Committee). The Deans of the School of Behavioral Sciences (or designee) will endeavor to make a determination within ten (10) days of receiving the appeal. The determination to uphold or overturn the final determination will be sent to the student in writing, and the Deans of the School of Behavioral Sciences (or designee)’s determination concerning the interim action(s) will be final, pending the outcome of any separate processes. If the Deans of the School of Behavioral Sciences (or designee) overturns a dismissal, the student will have the option either to remain in the program and continue work with the Remediation Committee to fully address its concerns, or to withdraw from the program.

6.9 Remediation for Practicum and Internship
If, during the Ph.D. Practicum or Internship, a student fails to successfully demonstrate the required skills in these courses and consequently receives failing evaluations, if a student is dismissed from a site, or if a student is found practicing at a site without having received approval by the department for the site, the site supervisor will notify the student’s faculty supervisor. The faculty supervisor will write an incident report and send it to the PhD Practicum /Internship office of the Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies. The Clinical Director and the Leadership Team will examine the nature and reason for the skills deficit and/or dismissal. At that point, the student may receive a grade of F for the course and be placed on hold in the Ph.D. Program in order to fulfill remediation procedures aimed to address and resolve the verifiable deficits.

For behaviors that constitute a violation of the University’s Honor Code the student’s professor will fill out an Honor Code Violation form, which will be investigated by the Ph.D. Director, LU Online, and Graduate Student Affairs. Students are given an opportunity to appeal. For further information on the expectations for clinical courses and the remediation process for Ph.D. Practicum and Internship, see the Practicum and Internship Manual.

6.10 Harassment
Sexual harassment, and/or any harassment, based on color, race, religion, or national origin has long been recognized as a violation of Section 703 of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended. Such behavior does not befit a committed Christian. Accordingly, Liberty University will not tolerate sexual harassment and intimidation of its employees or students.

6.11 Sexual Violence Consultation and Counseling Policy
Liberty University is committed to providing a safe place for learning. As such, Liberty adheres to the Title IX directive of not tolerating any form of sex-based discrimination, which can include: acts of sexual violence, sexual misconduct and disrespect for one another including non-consensual sexual intercourse, non-consensual sexual contact, sexual exploitation, sexual harassment, dating violence, domestic violence, childhood sexual abuse, and stalking. Additionally, Liberty University is committed to supporting and coming alongside students who may be victims of sexual discrimination and/or violence, currently, or in the past. Under Title IX, faculty are obligated to disclose to the university’s Title IX office any student disclosure of current or past experience of sex-based discrimination, physical violence and/or sexual violence. For additional information and up to date policy, please reference the Title IX information page https://www.liberty.edu/titleix/index.cfm?PID=35152

Thus, if a student discloses to a faculty member, verbally or in writing, that he/she has experienced sex-based discrimination, physical violence and/or sexual violence, presently or in the past, then the faculty member will make a referral to the Title IX office. The faculty member will also notify the department chair. This process is in place so that the university can help ensure that students are offered both the support and resources needed to help them succeed in their educational endeavors. An employee from the Title IX Office will reach out to the student and offer support, resources, and information. Though faculty are required to report incidents of sex-based discrimination and/or violence to the Title IX office, students are not required to accept any offers of support, resources or information.

6.12 Personal Counseling

Students are strongly encouraged to seek individual and group counseling as a part of the doctoral educational experience. Even if a student is a participant in a support group or self-help group, that participation alone does not really provide the necessary benefits for counselor preparation. As Christians who are called to serve others with the training of a counseling leader, it is imperative that we deal with our own personal issues that may interfere with our ability to impact others in meaningful ways. Moreover, getting the experience of being in the seat of the client will help you better understand your clients’ experiences in counseling.

As noted above, personal counseling might be required by the Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies administration as a condition of continuing in the program. When a student’s personal issues are assessed to be interfering with progress toward becoming a doctoral-level trained professional counselor, a developmental plan is created to help the student address the problematic issues. In such cases, the Department’s leadership must agree with the choice of the professional and might, in some circumstances, require the student to see a particular counselor. A release of information will be mandatory in order to obtain progress reports from the treating counselor.

6.13 Faculty Endorsement

Upon successful completion of the program of studies and demonstration of the requisite competencies, faculty members may endorse students for employment, certifications and licensure. Upon request, the faculty will write letters of recommendation for employment in the student’s specified area of specialization or for advanced studies (e.g., Post-doctoral programs). Endorsement only occurs when faculty believe students are qualified to perform the duties associated with credentialing or employment.

In addition to credentialing and employment, faculty members endorse students for Practicum and Internship. Endorsement occurs only when students have successfully completed the prerequisite courses and if faculty members believe students are qualified to perform the duties associated with the Practicum or Internship. In compliance with the ACA Code of Ethics, regardless of academic qualifications, faculty do not endorse students whom they believe to be impaired in any way that would interfere with the performance of the duties associated with the endorsement.
General Information

7.1 Registering For Classes
All Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision students enter the program with a hold on their accounts until they successfully pass the Qualifying Examination. Students can find a list of Ph.D. courses offered each term (all have a COUC prefix) in ASIST. To register for Clinical pre-requisite courses or Ph.D. courses listed on ASIST prior to passing the Qualifying Examination e-mail phdcounseling@liberty.edu or call 855-466-9218. After passing the Qualifying Exam students log into ASIST and register online.

Although students may be able to register for courses out of sequence via ASIST or a registration advisor, it is the student’s responsibility to follow the program sequence outlined in this document. Students who take post Qualifying Examination courses or electives prior to passing the Qualifying Examination do so at their own risk in that students who do not pass the Qualifying Examination are dismissed from the program and would not have taken those courses. Students who take this risk are responsible for the costs induced by that risk. For further information about this, contact phdcounseling@liberty.edu.

7.2 Graduate Teaching Assistantships (GTA)
The Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies has a limited number of Graduate Teaching Assistantship (GTA) positions that are awarded to qualified students on an annual basis. These assistantships are intended to support the instructional and administrative needs of the undergraduate and graduate programs as well as support GTAs in their growth as scholars. GTAs are expected to work 20 hours per week. Stipends are granted annually. Some of the GTA responsibilities include assisting faculty with research, completing administrative duties associated with management of the Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies, and teaching undergraduate/graduate courses.

Qualifications for becoming a GTA include: (a) admission to the doctoral program without deficiencies or provisions; (b) full-time student, typically taking a minimum of six (6) graduate hours a semester; (c) good academic standing as defined by the respective academic unit; (d) command of the English language and ability to communicate clearly; and (e) basic agreement with the Doctrinal Position and Statement of Purpose of Liberty University. Applications for GTA positions may be obtained from the Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies’ Administrative Assistant Mrs. Cindy Morrow (cjmorrow@liberty.edu). Appointments may be terminated at any time for cause, for example, improper performance of duties, violation of accepted standards of behavior, or failure to maintain scholastic eligibility for graduate school.
7.3 Academic Support
Students obtain academic support from contacting our Ph.D. advisors at phdcounseling@liberty.edu and from their Faculty Advising Committee. Additionally, students have full access to the Liberty Library on-line. When on campus, the Student ID card can be used to check out materials from the Library and to access computer accounts. This ID can be obtained from the Office of ID and Campus Services (see Card Services website at: https://www.liberty.edu/onecard/index.cfm?PID=4931 Students in need of writing help can contact the online writing center: https://www.liberty.edu/online/casas/writing-center/

7.4 Computer Needs
Each course in the Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision Program requires the student to use computer programs, which function in the process of course completion. Additionally, students need to bring a laptop computer with wireless Internet functioning to each doctoral intensive. To successfully accomplish program requirements, each student’s laptop computer must have the capacity to:

- Read and write in Microsoft Office® (Note: Microsoft Office 365® is available for free to Liberty University students at https://www.liberty.edu/informationsevices/index.cfm?PID=24600)
- Access online sites including the Liberty University website
- Send and receive email via Liberty Webmail.
- Operate SPSS software for computer data analysis

7.5 Email Account & Communication
Upon admission, each student is assigned a computer account and an email address on Liberty University’s system. Correspondence from the campus, including the Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies Office, will be delivered via this email address. All correspondence from the university, counseling department, and your course instructor will be delivered via this email address. Students are required to check their Liberty University email accounts regularly (every 24-48 hours) for communication from the university and counseling faculty. Students are required to respond to e-mails from the department leadership, and faculty within 24-48 hours, using their Liberty email address, in a manner that sufficiently addresses the content of the e-mail received.

Students are expected to communicate in a professional manner at all times whenever emailing classmates, professors, or any employee of Liberty University. Because there is no accompanying tone of voice, facial expressions or body language, email communication is more easily misinterpreted than face-to-face. You are encouraged and expected to use full sentences and good grammar when communicating with other students and faculty. It is also an expectation that your electronic communication is pleasing to God. Being courteous and polite to peers and professors demonstrates dignity and respect, "And as you wish that others would do to you, do so to them" (Luke 6:31, ESV).
Communicate complaints directly to the individual involved. Do not send a blanket email to everyone in the class or to administrative personnel until you have communicated your concerns directly to the person involved and allowed them time to respond. Do not post a message to the class on Blackboard that is more appropriate for an individual. Avoid offensive language of any kind. Because students are responsible to behave in an ethical manner throughout the course of the program, continual unprofessional, discourteous communication cannot be tolerated and may result in remediation procedures up to and including dismissal from the program.

7.6 Dress Code
When on campus or in a class (in person or virtual), students are expected to comply with the dress code outlined in the Graduate School Code of Honor found at the Graduate Student Affairs website: http://www.liberty.edu/index.cfm?PID=19155

7.7 General Policies and Procedures Resources
Counselor Education and Supervision Doctoral Students abide by the policies and procedures of The Liberty University Graduate School and this Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision Program Handbook. For the most up to date information on these policies students are encouraged to explore the following resources:

- Liberty University Graduate School Handbook: http://www.liberty.edu/academics/graduate/index.cfm?PID=19155

- Department of Counselor Education and Family Studies Website: http://www.liberty.edu/academics/arts-sciences/counseling/index.cfm?PID=5975

Student Support Services

Library/Media Services
Jerry Falwell Library provides a wide range of resources and services to meet the needs of students and faculty. State-of-the-art technologies and world-class collections designed to support and enhance the University’s curricula are readily accessible in a variety of formats to both residential and online students and faculty. Candidates have access to databases, research guides, physical and electronic collections, and workshops on a variety of topics that can be attended in person or via streaming video. Both the Education Research Guide and the Counseling and Psychology Research Guide include School Counseling. The Library also houses an exhaustive list of books and journals related to counseling, school counseling, and counseling-related professions to include ACA journals and the ASCA journal, Professional School Counseling. Online students have access to Inter-Library loan, and full-text journal articles and e-books for printing. Candidates can link to professional counseling associations, including the American Counseling Association (ACA) and the American School Counselor Association (ASCA). Candidates interested in making use of the Library’s resources and/or services should visit the Library’s website.

Technology Services
Candidates have access to technology support services via the Helpdesk through Liberty’s Information Technology HelpDesk. A technician will aid students in diagnosing and resolving issues related to technology. Technicians can access computers remotely, offering the same service to online students as they would to residential students. Through IT, students may purchase software at a discount (or obtain for free), and gain training and certifications. Candidates interested in making use of IT resources and/or services should visit the IT website link above.

Counseling Services
Student counseling services are available through the Student Care Office of Liberty University and include individual counseling, group counseling, crisis counseling, and referral services. Candidates can access a variety of online counseling resources provided by Student Care counselors at and additional campus resource offices. Candidates interested in making use of Student Care resources and/or services should visit the website above, email studentcare@liberty.edu or call 434- 582-2651.

Career Services
Liberty’s Career Center provides students with a variety of career services, including career counseling, resume writing, networking, interviewing, and assessment. Both face-to-face and phone appointments are available. Candidates interested in making use of the Career Center’s resources and/or services should visit the website, email careers@liberty.edu or call 434- 5924109.

Professional Behavior Expectations
While in the Ph.D. CES program, in all interactions with students, supervisees, supervisors, peers and Liberty University faculty and staff, students are expected to exhibit attitudes and behaviors consistent with professionalism. In addition, as counselor educators in training, students are expected to conduct themselves in a way that is consistent with the ACA code of ethics and the Graduate School Honor Code. This includes, but is not limited to, the following:

- Punctuality and preparedness to all course and supervision sessions.
- Appropriate dress and grooming (i.e., business attire).
- Professional written communication.
- Professional oral communication (includes avoiding inappropriate language or slang).
- Adherence to the American Counseling Association’s Code of Ethics.
- Teachable and receptive of feedback given by the supervisor.

Communication with Instructor, Support Staff, and Clinical Director
All concerns regarding courses are to be communicated to the course instructor. Concerns that arise related to the program at large are to be communicated to the program director. All interactions will be by email so the student and the University have documentation of the outcome of the communication. Students are expected to be courteous and respectful in all communication with instructors, support staff, and department leaders. Unprofessional and discourteous communication will not be tolerated and will result in remediation procedures up to and including dismissal from the program.

Finally, students are expected to communicate their concerns and seek to resolve any conflicts or misunderstandings directly with the person with whom the allegation occurred. When a student circumvents the process and contacts the University administration (e.g., Dean, Provost, or Chancellor), this action constitutes retaliation and will be sanctioned accordingly. For more detailed information please refer to the Graduate School Honor Code:
https://www.liberty.edu/index.cfm?PID=7782&action=preview&SW_ID=139 (log in required)

Professional Competency Expectations and Remediation Process
Per the ACA Code of Ethics, Liberty University faculty and practicum/internship supervisors have a professional and ethical responsibility to evaluate students on the following:

- Teaching and/or supervision skills competency
- Professional behaviors
- Personal and professional dispositions
- Ethical competency

As such, the faculty of Liberty University will not automatically approve program completion for students who demonstrate deficits that may interfere with future professional competence. Students enrolled in the program may be given a failing grades and/or placed on hold and a plan of remediation implemented if any of the following apply:

- Unprofessional or unethical conduct either at the Internship sites or the interaction with Liberty University faculty and staff.
- Any verifiable complaints about the student from Site Supervisors, site director, or faculty.
- Threat of lawsuits toward the site, supervisor, Liberty University, or any employee of Liberty University.

If the supervisor and/or Liberty University faculty determines that the student’s current emotional, mental, or physical well-being compromises the integrity of the program experience or potentially places the student, or others (e.g., site supervisors, master’s students, supervisees, faculty, peers, etc.), in harm’s way or an unduly vulnerable position.

The above-mentioned behaviors constitute violation of the University’s Honor Code, and the student’s professor or department leadership will fill out an Honor Code Violation form. This will be investigated by the Clinical and or Program Directors. If warranted, the Directors will bring the issue to the Department Leadership Team. A remediation plan will be formulated in conjunction with the faculty, student, and supervisor. The purpose of the remediation plan is to both protect the student and others, as well as assist the student in correcting any deficits in counseling skills or personal, interpersonal, or ethical problems. However, while the faculty’s desire for remediation is to help the student successfully continue in the program, certain violations are severe enough that they must result in academic dismissal from the program and/or Liberty University. Remediation may begin at any of the stages delineated in the Remediation section of this manual.

For violations that do not result in dismissal from the program, remediation procedures can include requiring the student to retake certain courses, seek personal counseling, etc. If, after remediation, the student is unable to correct the deficits, the Remediation Committee will meet to decide the best course of action for the student, up to and including an “F” for a course and removal from the Ph.D. CES program. The student has an opportunity to appeal grades and honor code violations. The final decision regarding whether the student is eligible to remain in the Ph.D. Program is at the discretion of the Department Leadership Team and based on a thorough evaluation of the incident.

Counseling Ph.D. Core Course Descriptions

COUC 701 – Statistics
This course introduces students to concepts regarding the professional functioning of licensed professional counselors and marriage and family therapists, including history, roles, professional organizations, standards, and credentialing. Current issues in the practice of counseling and marriage and family therapy in a variety of professional settings are explored. Students are also introduced to program policies, graduate level writing and APA style

COUC 710 – Advanced Group Counseling
Students review counseling leadership styles in task-oriented and personal growth groups. Current research on group counseling models and application is critiqued. Emphasis is placed upon leadership behaviors that are most facilitative to the group process.

COUC 714 – Supervision and Consultation
Theory, practice, and experience of supervision for counselors in training are reviewed. Students apply principles and theory while supervising other students, as well as being supervised themselves.

COUC 715 – Advanced Theory Application
A review and critique of counseling theories. Research regarding counseling theory constructs, along with their application in different settings and populations, is reviewed. Note: Must be enrolled in the following program: Doctor of Philosophy in Counselor Education and Supervision.

COUC 720 – Advanced Family, Systems, & Development
A review of family therapy models, with special emphasis placed upon family change issues over the life span. Specifically, research is reviewed on family assessment, the family life cycle, and family pathology in the developmental context.

COUC 730 – Issues in Integration
Current trends and themes in integration literature are reviewed. Special emphasis is given to current philosophical, theological, and psychological bases of integration, models of integration, and future themes.

COUC 740 – Advanced Research Design
A review of the process and method of developing and conducting research. Emphasis will be placed upon the application of methods for development and preparation of the doctoral proposal.

COUC 745 – Advanced Statistics
An examination of both quantitative and qualitative designs for research to assist the student in preparing a research proposal for discussion and critique in class. Each student will submit a formal written proposal.

COUC 747 – Instruction in Counselor Education
This course explores contemporary andragogy, course design, adult learning theory, course delivery, and evaluation methods in the field of counselor education. This exploration is both applied in focus and grounded in the empirical research on these subjects. Students synthesize their own philosophy of teaching and incorporate it practically in residential and online instructional contexts. Cultural, ethical, historical, and legal aspects of counseling instruction are examined. Teaching Christian spirituality as a subspecialty area in a counseling program is also considered. (Formerly COUN 747)

COUC 750 – Qualitative Research Methods

Qualitative research helps advance our understanding of effective solutions to the complex problems addressed in counseling. Therefore, counseling doctoral students need to understand the main qualitative methods of inquiry and when/how to appropriately use them. This course promotes understanding of the main qualitative research methods and their application to the counseling field. Selected qualitative research methods are explored, appropriate problems for qualitative inquiry delineated, and rigorous, ethical, and effective qualitative research strategies are applied to problems addressed in the field of counseling.

COUC 805 – Advanced Psychopathology and its Treatment

This course presents a comprehensive examination of the major psychiatric disorders contained in the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders, including Personality Disorders and Character Flaws. Students will learn multi-axial diagnosis and develop treatments for these disorders.

COUC 806 – Cognitive Behavioral Therapy

An overview of theoretical foundations of cognitive-behavioral therapy. Students learn the assessment, conceptual framework, strategic focus, and technical details of how cognitive-behavioral therapy is conducted.

COUC 810 – Dissemination of Research and Scholarship in Counseling

This course offers an orientation to writing and disseminating presentations and publications to the field of counseling in a variety of venues. Principles of research and scholarly writing are reviewed and skills are emphasized that provide readiness for manuscript preparation, submission, review, editorial, and presentation processes. The skills developed in this course will equip budding scholars to make a difference for Christ as expert writers and presenters in their chosen areas of counseling specialization.

COUC 815 – Empirically Supported Treatments for Adults

Evidence-based or empirically supported practice involves "the integration of the best available research with clinical expertise in the context of patient characteristics, culture, and preferences" (APA, 2005). In this course, students will explore and understand how science informs clinical practice in the field of counseling with the goal of translating learning into ethical, effective, and biblically grounded clinical practice.

COUC 820 – Empirically Supported Treatment for Children and Adolescents

Evidence-based or empirically supported practice involves "the integration of the best available research with the clinical expertise in the context of patient characteristics, culture, and preferences" (APA, 2005). In this course, students will explore and understand how science informs clinical practice in the field of counseling with the goal of translating learning into ethical, effective, and biblically grounded clinical practice with children and adolescents.

COUC 850 – Advanced Career Development and Counseling
A thorough grounding in current career development theories and application is provided. Special attention is given to career development, career counseling with special populations, and decision-making models.

COUC 860 – Leadership and Advocacy in Counselor Education
This doctoral level seminar course is designed to foster professional identity as a counselor educator and leadership/service to the counseling profession. There is a focus on leadership principles and theories, including their application to counselor education. Students will work for a self-reflective model in order to discover and assess their own leadership skills and potential and to consider how that potential can be applied to their field of counselor education. Professional, ethical, social, spiritual, and religious advocacy issues are also addressed throughout this course.

COUC 870 – Advanced Research Seminar
This course is designed to assist doctoral students in clarifying, developing, and completing their dissertations by examining both the methodological and practical issues involved in research designs and advanced data analysis procedures. Under the supervision of the instructor, students will present their own dissertation research ideas to the seminar participants for discussion, critique, and advice. Specific attention will be given to insuring that students craft research questions that build upon previous research and select an appropriate research design and analytic strategy. Concerns about research quality and rigor will be addressed in detail. Additionally, institutional guidelines regarding thesis and dissertation policies and procedures, the Human Research Review Committee application, publication options, timelines, committee membership, etc., will be reviewed.

COUC 871 – Qualitative Research Seminar
The course is designed to assist dissertators in clarifying, developing, and completing their thesis by examining both the philosophical and methodological issues of qualitative research. Under the supervision of the instructor, students will present their own work to the seminar participants for discussion, critique, and advice. Additionally, institutional guidelines regarding thesis and dissertation policies and procedures, the Human Research Review Committee application, publication options, timelines, committee membership, etc., requirements will be reviewed.

COUC 970 – Teaching Internship
The doctoral internship is designed to provide students with supervised experiences that reflect the activities of a regularly employed professional in the field of counselor education. All doctoral interns must have internship experiences in teaching, supervision and one additional doctoral competency (counseling, research, or leadership/advocacy). Under the guidance of faculty, the primary focus of the teaching internship is to help doctoral students develop the knowledge, skills, and dispositions required for ethical and competent practice in their role of educating counselor trainees in the field of counselor education. Registration Restrictions: 3.0 GPA or above

COUC 980 – Supervision Internship
The doctoral internship is designed to provide students with supervised experiences that reflect the activities of a regularly employed professional in the field of counselor education. All doctoral interns must have internship experiences in supervision, teaching, and one additional doctoral competency (counseling, research, or leadership/advocacy). Under the guidance of faculty and supervisors, the primary focus of the supervision internship is to help doctoral students develop the knowledge, skills, and dispositions required for ethical and competent practice as supervisors in the field of counseling and counselor education. Registration Restrictions: 3.0 GPA or above

COUC 989 – Dissertation Proposal and Research
Preparation for research and writing of the Dissertation.

COUC 990 – Dissertation Defense
Independent Study

COUC 997 – Counseling Seminar
An intensive study in a specific subject of Professional Counseling. This course allows variation in the approach and content of the regular curriculum, and often will be used by visiting professors.

COUC 998 – Practicum
Supervised practice of counseling. Focus is on the skills and development of the counselor under the supervision and guidance of staff in that setting. Students will actively participate in counseling situations with individuals and groups.

COUC 999 – Internship
The doctoral internship is designed to provide students with supervised experiences that reflect the activities of a regularly employed professional in the field of counselor education. All doctoral interns must have internship experiences in supervision, teaching, and one additional doctoral competency (counseling, research or leadership/advocacy). Under the guidance of faculty and supervisors, the primary focus of this internship is to help doctoral students develop the knowledge, skills, and dispositions required for ethical and competent practice as a counselor educator in counseling, research, or leadership and advocacy.
