

Job Description:

Rightly Dividing Truth (RDT) Counseling is an online faith-based therapy practice serving adults, children, families, and couples in Michigan, Virginia, and Florida. RDT is seeking to hire an independent contractor who can work with adults, children, and families during daytime and evening hours and provide faith based counseling to clients who request. Applicants must be licensed in one of RDT's working states or able to obtain resident status in Virginia and a willingness to obtain licensure in other states; assistance will be provided. Resident and licensure supervision will be provided and is required as part of employment. Hourly rates are based on experience and will increase based on ethics, professionalism, and continuing education. The contractor schedule is flexible, able to work from home, and software is provided. The team environment is fair, supportive, encouraging, and accessible. The clinical standard is extremely high; therapists are required to treat the whole person, develop knowledge of brain/body processes, and maintain a teachable mindset regarding various therapy modalities. RDT values clinician wellness and clinical excellence. Applicants can email Katelynn Jones directly: katelynn@rdtcounseling.com
