Welcome to Liberty University! Since 1971, our mission as a university has been to provide a world-class educational experience with a solid Christian foundation to equip men and women with the values, knowledge, and skills essential for success in every aspect of life. With our unique heritage and expanding influence, Liberty is dedicated to preparing students to succeed in their chosen profession and service to others as true Champions for Christ.

Jesus Himself summarized all the laws of the Old Testament in the Great Commandment. He said that we are to love God with all of our heart, soul, and mind and to love our neighbors as ourselves. The goal of The Liberty Way (Student Honor Code) is to encourage and instruct our students how to love God through a life of service to others. The way we treat each other in our community is a direct reflection of our love of God.

Liberty's community guidelines come in various forms. Some are requirements from local, state, and federal laws that must be obeyed by all. Some are based on Biblical mandates or principles that lead us to develop virtues characteristic of a Champion for Christ. Others are simply preferences that promote deference to one another while living in the university community. However, all are important for creating and maintaining the kind of university community we seek to provide.

Attendance at Liberty University is a privilege and, as a private educational institution, Liberty is free to control the admission and attendance of students. While the Student Honor Code has evolved over time, it has served our community well by articulating expectations of students and providing guidelines for life in a Christian educational community. Liberty is our university and this is our Student Honor Code.

Students are responsible for knowing and complying with the terms of The Liberty Way (Student Honor Code). Students are also responsible for reporting all circumstances which they believe constitute a major violation of the Student Honor Code to the Office of Community Life or the Office of Residence Life. Intentional breach of the responsibility to report major violations is itself a violation of the Student Honor Code. Every student should also give testimony or evidence relevant to any alleged violation of the Student Honor Code, if requested.

For Student Honor Code purposes, a student is defined as any person who is admitted, enrolled or registered for study in the undergraduate residential program at Liberty University for any academic period. Persons who are not officially enrolled for a particular term, but who have a continuing student relationship with Liberty University are also considered students for Student Honor Code purposes until a degree is conferred or an official withdrawal is processed.

The Student Honor Code is not a contract and does not create obligations that bind the university. The university reserves the right to revise the Student Honor Code at any time and for any reason, including an informal amendment to ensure fairness in its procedures.

Every student is expected to respect Liberty's Statement of Doctrine and Purpose and should avoid any activity, on or off campus, which would contradict the university’s mission or purpose, compromise the testimony or reputation of the university, or disrupt Liberty’s Christian learning environment. All members of the Liberty University community are asked to affirm the following:

"We have a responsibility to uphold the moral and ethical standards of Liberty University and personally confront those who do not."
Academic misconduct is considered conduct that undermines the academic integrity of Liberty University and includes, but is not limited to, academic dishonesty, plagiarism, and falsification. All such conduct is a violation of the Student Honor Code.

Academic Dishonesty

Academic dishonesty involves a student’s attempt to improve someone’s academic standing through dishonest means. It includes, but is not limited to:

- unauthorized collaboration on any work for the course;
- using unauthorized aids of any kind;
- allowing another student to copy any portion of one’s own work;
- copying from or viewing another student’s work during an examination;
- collaborating during an examination/assignment with any other person by giving or receiving information without specific permission of the instructor;
- stealing, buying, receiving, selling or transmitting coursework of any kind;
- submitting work previously used to fulfill academic requirements for any course at any institution at any level, including Liberty University, without permission from both faculty members;
- substituting for another person or permitting any other person to substitute for oneself to attend class without permission from the faculty member, take an examination, or complete course work;
- sabotaging another student’s academic work;
- soliciting another student to attend class without permission from the faculty member, complete a course, an individual assignment, or an examination; and
- facilitating or aiding in any act of academic dishonesty.

Any student who knowingly assists in any form of academic dishonesty will also be considered responsible along with the student who accepts such assistance.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is the failure to give attribution to the words, ideas or information of others on papers, projects or any assignment prepared for a course. It includes, but is not limited to:

- omitting quotation marks or other conventional markings around material quoted from any source;
- paraphrasing, summarizing, or quoting a passage from a source without referencing the source;
- purchasing or acquiring material of any kind and representing it as one’s own work; and
- replicating another person’s work and submitting it as one’s own work.

Falsification

Falsification is the misrepresentation of the truth in connection with course work. It includes, but is not limited to:

- dishonestly answering or providing false information to the university;
- altering any document, correspondence, or assignment that may mislead others or distort the truth;
- citing a source that is known not to exist;
- including a source in a bibliography when the source was neither cited in the body of the student’s work nor consulted;
• citing a source when it is known to not support the proposition for which it was cited;
• intentionally distorting the meaning or applicability of data;
• inventing or intentionally distorting data or statistical result; and
• falsifying attendance and/or participation.

Reporting and Appeal Process for Academic Misconduct

The Student Honor Code applies a preponderance of the evidence standard for determining whether an allegation of academic misconduct occurred. The preponderance of the evidence standard means the allegation must be proven by the greater weight of the evidence, in other words, a determination of what is more likely than not to have occurred.

The reporting procedure is as follows:

• The instructor (or staff member, if applicable) will confront the student within a reasonable period of time from when the suspected academic misconduct is discovered or reported. The instructor or staff member will give the student an opportunity to respond to the alleged academic misconduct.
• If the instructor or staff member determines, by a preponderance of the evidence, that academic misconduct has occurred and the student is responsible, the instructor or staff member will file a report and impose the appropriate academic sanction(s) based on a standardized rubric, which guides in determining the appropriate sanction based on the specific violation.
• The instructor or staff member will notify the student via email of the decision regarding the alleged academic misconduct and any imposed sanctions.
• The Office of Community Life may also contact the student to further address the incident. The Office of Community Life is not limited by academic departmental sanctions and may impose additional sanctions as it determines to be consistent with The Student Honor Code.

A student may choose to appeal an instructor or staff member’s finding of academic misconduct and/or the sanction imposed. That appeal process is as follows:

• The student must submit a written appeal to the department chairperson within seven days of receiving the notification from the instructor or staff member of a finding of academic misconduct. The student’s appeal should include any supporting documents and should clearly state the reason(s) (a) why the student disagrees with the finding of academic misconduct and/or (b) why the student believes the sanction imposed was inappropriate and what sanction the student believes would be appropriate, if any.
• The department chairperson will review the instructor or staff member's report and the student's written appeal. The department chairperson may (but is not required to) consult with the instructor or staff member and/or student, and may investigate further, and then will notify the instructor or staff member and the student of the decision on the initial appeal via email.
• The student may appeal the department chairperson’s decision to the associate dean of the school or college (e.g., School of Business, College of Arts and Sciences, etc.) within seven days of receiving the department chairperson’s decision by stating, in writing, the reasons why the department chairperson’s decision was incorrect or inappropriate. The associate dean will review the student's second written appeal, as well as the instructor or staff member's report, the department chairperson’s decision on the student’s initial appeal, and any other relevant information. The associate dean will notify the department chairperson, the instructor or staff member, and the student of the decision on the second appeal via email. The decision of the associate dean on the second appeal is final and no further appeal is permitted.
• Should any appeal result in a final decision of “no academic misconduct”, a report indicating such will be forwarded to all appropriate parties and the student’s record will be updated accordingly. A decision of “no academic misconduct” will be considered a final academic determination and cannot be appealed by an instructor or staff member. A decision to uphold the determination of academic misconduct and/or the sanction may be referred back to the Office of Community Life to proceed accordingly.

Computing Ethics

Many students will use Liberty University’s computing resources through classes that require such use, through on-campus employment, and for other reasons. Liberty University strictly obeys copyright laws and licensure agreements that govern computer software and web applications. No student should ever make unauthorized copies of university-owned computer software or otherwise violate copyright laws.

Liberty University has established a Code of Computing Ethics and an Academic Computing Policy. Students using the university’s computing resources are responsible for adhering to that code and that policy. If the instructor or the campus employer who authorizes the student’s access to the university’s computer resources does not provide a copy of that code and that policy, it is the student’s responsibility to ask for them.

Violation of the Code of Computing Ethics and Academic Computing Policy may also be a violation of the Student Honor Code, subjecting a student to disciplinary action by Liberty University and may also lead to sanctions, including a denial of future computing privileges. Violation of laws and license agreements may also subject a student to legal action under applicable federal, state, and local laws and regulations and private causes of legal action. If any action by a student results in financial loss to Liberty University, damages and costs assessed to the university may also be assessed to the student.

Unprofessional, Unethical, and Dangerous Behavior

Liberty University has a professional and ethical responsibility to evaluate students based on their ability to successfully carry out the tasks associated with their degree and/or required licensure (if applicable). As such, the faculty of Liberty University will not approve program completion and may suspend enrollment privileges for students who demonstrate behaviors that may interfere with future professional competence. Liberty University reserves the right to require a plan of remediation if any of the following apply:

• The student demonstrates unprofessional or unethical conduct while acting as a representative of Liberty University, or in interactions with Liberty University faculty or staff, or while participating in an internship, externship, or clinical experience for academic credit on- or off-campus.
• The university determines that the student’s current emotional, mental or physical well-being compromise the integrity of the degree or licensure, or potentially places a person in harm’s way or an unduly vulnerable position.

Such actions constitute unprofessional, unethical, and/or dangerous behavior and may be violations of the Student Honor Code. In any of these cases, a remediation plan will be formulated in conjunction with the appropriate dean or associate dean, the student, and may include the Office of Community Life. The purpose of the remediation plan is to assist students in correcting any deficits in their ability to successfully complete the requirements of their degree and/or required licensure so that the students may successfully complete the program.

Remediation procedures can include actions such as repeating particular courses, obtaining personal counseling, completing additional assignments, blocked enrollment privileges for some or all courses, and in some cases academic suspension or Dismissal from Liberty University.
Life outside the classroom involves a significant amount of a student’s time and the university expects students to take responsibility for their behavior and choices. When those choices violate the Student Honor Code, the university administers discipline with love and grace. Liberty University policies are in effect at all times, including summer break and school breaks (e.g. weekends, holidays, fall break, Christmas break, spring break, etc.). All students, whether residing on- or off-campus, are expected to abide by the guidelines and standards of conduct outlined in the Student Honor Code until the student graduates, or is no longer a student at the university. Similarly, all student groups are expected to abide by these guidelines and standards. The university’s disciplinary process is separate from the law enforcement process, and students who violate such laws that cover conduct also prohibited by the Student Honor Code may be held responsible and face penalties under both processes. The university may impose sanctions for violations of its policies even if governmental authorities choose to not prosecute.

Substance Use and Prevention

Liberty University prohibits the possession, use, manufacture, or distribution of alcoholic beverages, tobacco, nicotine, illegal drugs, and non-prescribed controlled substances by its students, regardless of whether it occurs on- or off-campus. This prohibition also includes the possession, use, or distribution of prescription medication not prescribed to the student by a licensed medical physician and the abuse or distribution of medication prescribed to the student by a licensed medical physician.

Violations of this prohibition may result in disciplinary action, including a sanction of Non-Return, Dismissal or Expulsion. In addition, the possession, use, manufacture, or distribution of illegal drugs and non-prescribed controlled substances, as well as the possession, use, manufacture, or distribution of alcoholic beverages, tobacco, and nicotine by underage students, are crimes. Liberty University will cooperate with law enforcement authorities who are charged with enforcing the relevant laws.

Education

Liberty University recognizes that substance abuse is a serious problem, and the education of university community members on the inherent dangers of substance use and abuse is an important aspect in addressing the problem. The university incorporates educational information on substance use and abuse through campus-wide programming, training modules, academic courses, Convocation, community resources, pastoral resources, and utilization of campus mental and health-care professionals. Where appropriate, sanctions will include an educational component.

Counseling and Referral

Liberty University students who are at risk of substance abuse have access to counseling through Liberty’s Student Counseling Services and its programs, including local chapters of Celebrate Recovery. Student Counseling Services may also refer students to other health-care agencies or counselors as needed. Any cost incurred or insurance claims filed for outside services are the sole responsibility of the student.

Substance Use Testing Program

For the protection of its students and community, the university conducts an on-going program of mandatory or random substance use testing, which includes testing for illegal use of drugs and alcohol. Students must participate in and cooperate with the university’s substance use testing program, which permits the substance use testing of any student (breath, hair, urine, or blood as specified by the one requiring administration of the test), irrespective of the method by which that student was selected (randomly or based on suspected use or possession).

Failure to cooperate with the university's substance use testing program, which includes refusal to submit to a substance use test at the designated time and place, will be viewed as non-compliance and may result in disciplinary action against a student. Failure to achieve a negative substance use test (i.e., the absence of prohibited substance) may also result in disciplinary action against a student. Such disciplinary action may include Dismissal or Expulsion from the university. Parents may be notified when students are under 21 years of age. Law enforcement authorities may also be notified.

Consistent with the law, a person administering a substance use test may communicate the student’s test results to the Office of Community Life, or other relevant university office(s), for possible disciplinary action. Such communications will comply with the law and seek to respect the student’s privacy to the extent possible to fulfill the university’s responsibilities.

Any disciplinary action against a student could also involve academic penalties, including the possibility of loss of credit for work completed during the semester in which the disciplinary action is taken. Any possible refund of monies paid will be subject to the refund policy, as stated in the relevant Liberty University catalog. Admission to and enrollment at Liberty University does not exempt students from having the university's disciplinary and academic penalties apply to them for actions taken while students, even when prohibited substance use may have been revealed to the university prior to admission or enrollment.

Discrimination, Harassment, and Sexual Misconduct Policy

The Office of Equity & Compliance (OEC) enforces the university’s Discrimination, Harassment, and Sexual Misconduct Policy (the “Policy”). The Policy prohibits Discrimination, Harassment (Non-Sexual), Sexual Harassment, Sexual Violence, Sexual Exploitation, Stalking, Intimate Partner Violence, Intimidation, False Reporting, Retaliation, and Complicity, as those terms are defined in the Policy (collectively, those terms are referred to in the Policy as “Prohibited Conduct”). The Policy is incorporated herein by reference such that a violation of the Policy also violates The Liberty Way. Prohibited Conduct is harmful to the well-being of the university community and its members, the learning and working environment, and collegial relationships amongst students, faculty, and employees. In accordance with the Policy and applicable laws, the OEC will promptly and equitably respond to complaints and reports of Prohibited Conduct with measures designed to eliminate such misconduct, prevent its recurrence, and remedy any adverse effects of the misconduct on individuals, members of the campus community, and university-related programs and activities. All members of the university community, including students, are strongly encouraged to read the university’s Discrimination, Harassment, and Sexual Misconduct Policy and utilize available resources and support at the university and in the community.

Emergency medical assistance and campus safety/law enforcement assistance are available both on- and off-campus. Persons are encouraged to contact law enforcement and/or seek medical treatment as soon as possible following an incident that may pose a threat to safety or physical well-being and following a potential criminal offense.

Dress Guidelines

While the university recognizes that opinions vary considerably regarding what constitutes appropriate dress, the university has established reasonable guidelines that students are required to follow while on campus. Cleanliness, neatness, appropriateness, and modesty are the general guiding factors with regard to dress.

Resident Assistants (RAs), Resident Directors (RDs), Office of Community Life Associate Directors (ADs), as well as other university employees, will enforce dress guidelines and educate students regarding these guidelines.

Questions concerning the standard of dress should be directed to the Office of Community Life, which may make the final determination as to appropriateness.

Men’s Dress for Students

Hairstyles and fashion should avoid extremes. Students must dress modestly and appropriately at all times. Earrings and plugs may be worn in ears. No other facial jewelry is permitted.

- Class Dress is required in Convocation and class and when visiting university academic and administrative offices. Class dress should be neat and consist of footwear, long pants, and shirts. Hats or hoods should not be worn in class or at Convocation.
- Casual Dress is acceptable any time class dress is not required. Casual dress consists of class dress and/or loose-fitting, modest shorts, warm-ups, and footwear. Swimming pool attire should be a modest swimsuit.

Women’s Dress for Students

Hairstyles and fashion should avoid extremes. Students must dress modestly and appropriately at all times. Earrings and plugs may be worn in ears and small studs may be worn in the nose. No other facial jewelry is permitted.

- Class Dress is required in Convocation and class and when visiting university academic and administrative offices. Class dress should be neat and consist of footwear, modest length skirts or dresses, long pants (including capri/cropped pants), and shirts/blouses.

- Casual Dress is acceptable anytime class dress is not required. Casual dress consists of class dress and/or loose-fitting modest shorts, warm-ups, and footwear. Swimming pool attire should be a modest one-piece swimsuit.

NOTE: Dress inconsistent with these guidelines are violations of the Student Honor Code. Individual colleges and schools within Liberty University (e.g., the School of Business) may implement a more rigorous standard of dress for students enrolled in their schools. Violations of such college- and school-specific dress codes also violate the Student Honor Code. Liberty University Online (LUO) students are required to follow these guidelines only while present on university property.

Entertainment Guidelines

Liberty University maintains a conservative standard in its approach to the arts and entertainment.

- Media and entertainment that is offensive to Liberty's standards and traditions (i.e., lewd lyrics, anti-Christian message, sexual content, nudity, pornography, etc.) are not permitted on- or off-campus.
- Resident Directors and Community Life Associate Directors (ADs) are available to give guidance and clarify areas of confusion, which guidance and clarification should be sought in advance.
- While industry ratings systems for movies, games, and other media generally are not reliable standards, they can be helpful in identifying content. Movie, game, and other media content rated “X”, and “NC-17”, and video game content rated “A” are not permitted.
- Caution should be used in viewing movie content rated “MA”, “R”, “PG-13”, and video game content rated “M”.
- Personal entertainment should not disrupt the academic environment of any residence hall. Noise of any kind (including music, television and other electronic devices) in a resident room is considered too loud if it can be heard in the hallway or outside.
- The Division of Student Affairs will continue to develop guidelines and principles related to all forms of entertainment.

NOTE: Activities inconsistent with these standards and guidelines are violations of the Student Honor Code.

Statement on Sexuality and Relationships

Sexual relations outside of a biblically-ordained marriage between a natural-born man and a natural-born woman are not permissible at Liberty University. In personal relationships, students are encouraged to know and abide by common-sense guidelines to avoid the appearance of impropriety. Activities inconsistent with these standards and guidelines are violations of the Student Honor Code.

Statement on Personal and Community Respect

Respectful attitudes and behaviors should be afforded to all members of the university community, including respect through proper acknowledgement of personal and professional positions. Failure to do so is a violation of the Student Honor Code. Students are asked to observe academic courtesy with regard to all titles (e.g., Dr., Dean, Mr., Mrs., Miss). Students should not use first names when speaking to or about Liberty faculty or employees. Students are expected to exercise proper decorum in the classroom and respect for university property.

Liberty University believes in the inherent value and dignity of all men and women as God has created them. We are committed to treating everyone on our campus, including visitors for athletic competitions or some other... purpose, with respect, and we actively encourage all members of the university community to love others as Christ loves them. Proper respect should also be shown from students to other students at all times. Vulgar comments (e.g., comments of a sexual nature) and derogatory comments concerning a person’s protected status (e.g., religion, sex, race, etc.) will not be tolerated. In addition to violating the Student Honor Code, such comments may also violate the Policy. Students and student groups are expected to treat all members of the university community and guests in a spirit of Christian love, mutual respect, and individual dignity.

Participation in bullying, hazing, and doxing is prohibited. Bullying is the unwelcome, aggressive and repeated use of intimidation to force a more vulnerable person to do what the bully desires or to harm a more vulnerable person. Bullying includes oral or written derogatory name-calling, taunting, and threatening harm; social actions of spreading false rumors to damage a reputation, and causing extreme embarrassment; and physical actions of hitting, kicking, spitting, tripping, pushing down, rude hand gestures, and injuring or taking another’s property. Hazing is any act committed that humiliates, intimidates, demeans, or endangers the health and safety of another person, regardless of the other person’s willingness to participate, and includes active and passive participation in such activities. Doxing is the publication through any format (e.g., oral, written, or online) of a person’s or group’s personally identifiable information in an attempt to incite harassment or harm against the identified person or group. Doxing involves, but is not limited to, reporting or posting personal information such as employer information, place of employment, place of worship, place of personal residence, or personal contact information with intent to exact revenge, impose punishment, or obtain justice through use of the information by third parties.

Obstruction is a violation of the Student Honor Code. Behavior is considered obstruction when a student or student group threatens or engages in other acts of retaliation against another person who acted in good faith (honestly and with the intention of being fair) in reporting Student Honor Code violations, even if reported mistakenly. Any report of alleged misconduct made in bad faith (knowingly making false reports or inventing allegations) is also a violation of the Student Honor Code. Similarly, making false reports of Prohibited Conduct under the Policy, as well as engaging in retaliation against any person for either reporting Prohibited Conduct or participating in an investigation of Prohibited Conduct under the Policy, are strictly prohibited.

Living as part of the university community is a privilege. All members of the university community are expected to respect the rights of and give proper deference to others. Conduct that disrupts the university community’s living and educational environment is not permitted and is a violation of the Student Honor Code.

Purpose of Community Standards

Liberty University’s community standards are designed to maintain an environment that supports the spiritual development and academic success of its students. Enforcement of the community standards is intended to be redemptive, restorative, and carried out with love and grace.

Restorative Practices

Restorative Practices refers to the multifaceted approach to conflict or disciplinary issues, which promotes holistic and healing processes that encourage students to live peaceably in community with one another. Restorative Practices include all those who are impacted by the behavior (responsible parties, harmed parties, and community members), and focus on repairing the damage, as well as preventing future harms. Restorative Practices is comprised of a spectrum of services, including Conflict Coaching, Mediation, and Restorative Conferences, which are facilitated through the Office of Community Life.

- Conflict Coaching is a means through which students experiencing conflict in the residence halls can use student leadership as a resource for support in addressing and resolving low-level conflicts and disputes.
• Mediation is a form of conflict resolution, which allows students to work through difficult situations or disagreements with the assistance of a trained facilitator, who serves as a neutral third party.

• Restorative Conferences are an alternative process of discipline for students that focus on helping students learn from mistakes and repair harm caused to others by the violations committed. Restorative Conferences involve a number of individuals, in addition to responsible parties, including victims and community members, who work collaboratively to find effective ways to repair harms, restore trust, and prevent further violations from occurring.

Participation in Restorative Practices is voluntary, and either party can request to end participation in Restorative Practices at any time. Participation in Restorative Conferences involves signing a waiver to the standard Disciplinary Resolution processes and sanctions. For more information about how Restorative Practices work, please contact the Office of Community Life.

Community Standards Processes

There are three possible process options utilized by the Office of Community Life to enforce the Student Honor Code: Restorative Conferences, Pathways, and Traditional Sanctioning.

• Restorative Conferences refer to a community-based approach to conflict or disciplinary issues, which promotes holistic and healing processes that encourage students to live peaceably in community with one another. This process is most often utilized when the student accepts responsibility and harmed/affected parties are easily identified. Restorative Practices include all those who are impacted by the behavior (responsible parties, harmed parties, and community members), and focus on repairing the damage, as well as preventing future harms.

• Pathways provides the responsible student the opportunity to work with the Office of Community life to select structured transformational sanctioning tailored to their specific situation. This process is most often utilized when the student accepts responsibility, but no harmed/affected parties are easily identifiable.

• Traditional Sanctioning will be used when Restorative Practices or Pathways are not appropriate. Traditional Sanctions generally include a fine, community service, and the possibility of Non-Return, Dismissal or Expulsion but also may include other options. This process is most often utilized when a student is non-cooperative with the investigative process, or when the investigation concludes with a finding of responsible and the student does not accept responsibility.

For On-Campus living guidelines that are not part of the Student Conduct Code point system, please refer to the On-Campus Living Guide. The On-Campus Living Guide is governed by the Office of Residence Life. Sanctions for Student Conduct Code violations are determined based upon the following guidelines:

1 Point

• Late to Convocation (1 additional point for each additional 15 minutes late)
• Late for curfew (1 additional point for each additional 30 minutes late)

5 Points (May Include a $15 Fine)

• Absence from or disturbances in a required meeting (e.g., hall meeting, disciplinary proceeding, etc.)
• Absence from or disturbance in Convocation (NOTE: The first two unexcused absences from convocation will result in a $25 fine per absence. Subsequent unexcused absences will result in a $50 fine per absence.)
- Dress code violation
- Failure to respond to Student Affairs official correspondence within 48 hours
- Improper sign-out
- Curfew violation other than late for curfew
- Possession and/or use of tobacco/nicotine
- Use of e-cigarettes or vaping on campus
- Gambling
- Attendance at a dance
- Minor violation of the Statement on Personal and Community Respect (e.g., direct disobedience; disrespect to faculty, staff, or fellow student; noise disturbance on the residence hall; conduct that causes minor disruption to community or minor damage to property; minor usage of profane language) (may be considered a 10-15 point violation depending upon severity)

Appeals for 1 to 5-point offenses must be submitted to the respective RD or to the Student Appeals Court through the link provided in the notification email within 48 hours of notification of a decision. The RD or the Student Appeals Court will uphold, modify, or overturn the violation(s) and/or sanction(s). The decision will be final.

10 Points (May Include a $50 Fine)

- Deception
- Minor violation of the Statement on Sexuality and Relationships (e.g., inappropriate personal contact; visiting alone with the opposite sex at an off-campus residence; entering the residence hallway, quad, or on-campus apartment of the opposite sex or allowing the same; visiting any dwelling or residence with a member of the opposite sex in inappropriate circumstances)
- Violation of the Entertainment Guidelines (may be considered a 10-15 point violation depending upon severity)
- Violation of the Statement on Personal and Community Respect, creating a disruption to community (may be considered a 10-15 point violation depending upon severity)

Appeals for 10-point offenses must be submitted to the respective RD or the Student Appeals Court through the link provided in the notification email within 48 hours of notification of a decision. The RD or the Student Appeals Court will uphold, modify, or overturn the violation(s) and/or sanction(s). The decision will be final.

15 Points (May Include a $150 Fine and 15 Hours of Community Service)

- Academic misconduct, including dishonesty, plagiarism, or falsification
- Commission or conviction of a misdemeanor
- Falsification of information on an official document (including residence hall sign-out sheet)
- Failure to properly identify oneself
- Obstruction or making bad-faith claims of misconduct
- Participation in a social gathering where alcohol is served (e.g., party, bar, nightclub, etc.)
- Obscene, profane, or abusive language or behavior
- Violation of the Entertainment Guidelines (may be considered a 10-15 point violation depending upon severity)
- Violation of the Statement on Sexuality and Relationships (e.g., sexual misconduct, including inappropriate personal contact, any state of undress with a member of the opposite sex)
- Threat to do bodily harm to others
- Violation of the Statement on Personal and Community Respect, creating a disruption to community (may be considered a 10-15 point violation depending upon severity)
- Violation of the Discrimination, Harassment, and Sexual Misconduct Policy (may be considered a 15-30 point violation depending upon severity)
- Theft (plus financial restitution and/or return)
- Vandalism or property damage (plus financial restitution)

Appeals for 15-point offenses must be submitted to the Associate Dean of Students or to the Student Appeals Court through the link provided in the notification email within 48 hours of notification of a decision. The Associate Dean of Students or the Student Appeals Court will uphold, modify, or overturn the violation(s) and/or sanction(s). The decision will be final.

30 Points (May Include a $300 Fine, 30 Hours of Community Service, Possible Dismissal or Expulsion)

- Severe or recurring academic misconduct violation, including dishonesty, plagiarism, or falsification
- Commission or conviction of any felony
- Violation of the Discrimination, Harassment, and Sexual Misconduct Policy (may be considered a 15-30 point violation depending upon severity)
- Violation of the Statement on Sexuality and Relationships (e.g., sexual immorality, including inappropriate personal contact, spending the night with a member of the opposite sex)
- Life-threatening behavior or language towards others (possible immediate removal/exclusion from campus, and Dismissal for a minimum of two semesters or Expulsion for an indefinite period of time)
- Violation of the Statement on Personal and Community Respect where personal harm is caused
- Non-participation in classes or extended absence from university community without notice
- Disruption to university community
- Non-compliance with a directive of any university representative or Behavioral Plan
- Possession, use, manufacture, or distribution of illegal drugs or non-prescribed controlled substances or involvement with another person engaged in any of these acts
- Possession or consumption of alcoholic beverages
- Refusal to submit to an Alco-Sensor test or substance use test, as directed by a university representative
- Procuring, financing, facilitating, or obtaining an abortion
- Stealing or possession of stolen property (plus financial restitution)
- Unauthorized possession or use of weapons
- Violation of Liberty University’s Weapons Policy
- Conduct inconsistent with Liberty’s mission or purpose that compromises the testimony or reputation of the university, or disrupts Liberty’s Christian learning environment

Appeals for 30-point offenses (when Non-Return, Dismissal or Expulsion is not imposed) must be submitted to the Dean of Students or to the Student Appeals Court through the link provided in the notification email within 48 hours of notification of a decision. The Dean of Students or the Student Appeals Court will uphold, modify, or overturn the violation(s) and/or sanction(s). The decision will be final. Appeals for 30-point offenses (when Non-Return, Dismissal or Expulsion is imposed) must be submitted to the Senior Vice President for Student Affairs (SVPSA) or the Judicial Review Board (JRB) through the link provided in the notification email within 48 hours of notification of a decision (see the appeals section for further explanation of the JRB). If a request is made for the SVPSA to decide the appeal in place of the JRB, the SVPSA will determine whether to decide the appeal or refer it to a JRB. The SVPSA or the JRB will uphold, modify, or overturn the violation(s) and/or sanction(s). The decision of the appellate body will be final.

NOTE: For students who fail to complete, or choose not to complete, community service, fines will be issued as follows: 15 hours = $150.00 fine; 30 hours = $300.00 fine. Any student who violates disciplinary probation may not be allowed to return for the following semester.

Enforcement of Community Standards (General Conduct – Non-Academic)

What is the evidentiary standard?
All student conduct disciplinary proceedings, including appeals, use a preponderance of the evidence standard following a review of all the available information and evidence to determine whether a violation of the Student Honor Code occurred. A preponderance of the evidence is the greater weight of the evidence or, in other words, a determination of what is more likely than not to have occurred.

What happens if a student is charged with a violation?

Any student who is reported for a violation of the Student Honor Code (also sometimes referred to during the process as the "respondent") for which the student could, if found responsible, receive a sanction of 1-10 points will be notified by the appropriate Student Affairs staff member. For an alleged violation that could result in a sanction of 15 or more points, the student who is reported for the violation of the Student Honor Code will meet with the appropriate Office of Community Life Associate Director (AD). For all credible reports of an alleged violation(s), regardless of the potential point sanction, the student will receive notice of the alleged violation(s) and be given an opportunity to respond to the allegation(s). The AD or Student Affairs staff member, depending on the level of the alleged violation, will conduct an investigation into the alleged violation(s). Other Student Affairs staff members may assist in the investigation. In the event that a student under investigation for alleged Student Honor Code violation(s) is deemed to pose a potential risk to the campus community, the student under investigation may be restricted from living on campus, attending class, and/or being present on campus. The university will seek to impose such restrictions in the manner that has the least effect on the student’s education while addressing the risk. If a student is required to move off campus, the student may be responsible for the costs of relocation and off-campus housing. Following the investigation, the AD or Student Affairs staff member will proceed as follows:

- For 15-point violations, if the AD or Student Affairs staff member determines by a preponderance of the evidence that a violation occurred, the AD or Student Affairs staff member will schedule a follow-up meeting with the student to notify the student of the outcome of the investigation, the sanction(s), if any, and the appeal process. The student will also receive a written notification email.
- For 30-point violations, a Conduct Review Committee (CRC), comprised of members of the Office of Community Life, will consider the facts and relevant information and make a determination as to whether, by a preponderance of the evidence, the student violated the Student Honor Code. The student does not have a right to attend the CRC. The CRC will rely on the facts and relevant information gathered during the investigation. The AD endeavors to give students an opportunity to review and respond to the evidence that will be considered by the CRC before it meets, where possible, but such an opportunity is not required. If the CRC determines that a violation occurred, the AD will schedule a follow-up meeting to notify the student of the outcome of the investigation, the sanction(s) (if any), and the appeal process. Some 30-point violations may be handled by the AD. The student will also receive a written notification email.

Parents or legal guardians may be notified of a student's conduct process and any violations and/or sanctions, including Dismissal or Expulsion.

What happens with a sanction of Dismissal or Expulsion?

Dismissal is generally defined in the Student Honor Code as a separation from the university for at least a defined period of time (generally one or two semesters), after which the student may be eligible to reapply for admission to the university. Dismissals are generally either or the shorter of one semester or six months, or for the shorter of two semesters or one calendar year, at minimum. Expulsion is generally defined in the Student Honor Code as an indefinite separation from the university without an opportunity to reapply or enroll in courses.

If the CRC imposes a sanction of Dismissal or Expulsion, an Associate Director for Community Life (or designee) will communicate the decision to the student in writing. The student has 48 hours after receiving notification of a decision to appeal, in accordance with the instructions for appeal below. If the student waives the right to appeal and accepts the determination of responsibility and/or the sanction(s), the student will follow the procedures required to process the determination. The student may also choose to accept the determination of responsibility, but appeal the sanction(s).

Once the student accepts a sanction of Dismissal or Expulsion by not filing an appeal or after a final sanction of Dismissal or Expulsion has been imposed following all appeals, the student will have no more than 48 hours from notification of the decision to leave the university unless the student receives permission otherwise from OCL in writing. At that time, the student may also be issued a campus ban by LUPD. A banned student may not enter the campus property without first contacting LUPD to request for the ban to be lifted temporarily for a given purpose and LUPD agreeing in writing to the request. The student may be required to leave sooner if the student is considered by the university to be a disruption to the campus community or a safety threat. When Dismissal or Expulsion occurs during a semester, all academic work is lost for the semester except classes that have been completed before the time the decision is imposed.

Applications for academic re-admission to Liberty University are subject to administrative review. Following a Dismissal, the student must have been absent from the university for at least the designated period of time and have fulfilled any conditions before such an application will be approved. Re-admission to the university is not guaranteed.

Appeals of Violations (General Conduct – Non-Academic)

An appeal of a violation of the Student Honor Code is not a rehearing of the evidence of a case, and the Dean of Students, the Associate Dean of Students, the Student Appeals Court, the Student Affairs Representative(s), the Judicial Review Board (JRB), or the Senior Vice President for Student Affairs (SVPSA) (collectively, “the appellate body”) do not generally substitute their determination for that of the AD, the Student Affairs staff member, or the CRC (with the specific appellate body depending on the level of the alleged violation and potential sanction). Rather, the appeal is the student’s (or student group’s) opportunity to have the procedures of the investigation or the determination (including sanctions) evaluated for fairness based on the certain grounds of appeal set forth below. All requests for appeals must be provided in writing, which includes email, and must include an explanation of how one or more of the grounds for appeal apply. Students should submit all information and evidence supporting the ground(s) for appeal within their appeal. Failure to articulate at least one of the grounds for appeal may result in the requested appeal being denied without a hearing. Students have the opportunity to appeal any violations and/or sanctions. To make a valid appeal, students must comply with all instructions from the university. A summary of those instructions and processes are as follows:

- The deadline to submit an appeal is 48 hours from notification of the decision, and hours are counted on every calendar day, not just business days or school days.
- The appeal must clearly state in writing at least one of the following three grounds for appeal:
  - There was a procedural error that prevented a fair, impartial, or proper investigation or CRC (i.e., affecting the outcome of a case) that materially affected the determination.
  - The disciplinary sanction(s), in consideration of the student's prior conduct history and other relevant information, are not fair and/or consistent with the violation.
  - New evidence introduced as part of the appeal that was unavailable at the time of the investigation or CRC and could not have reasonably been made available, and which could have reasonably affected the outcome in favor of the student appealing.
- The appeal must contain an explanation, including any information and evidence, supporting the stated ground(s) for appeal.
- If the student making the appeal received a sanction of Non-Return, Dismissal or Expulsion the student should indicate in the written appeal whether he or she requests the appeal to be determined by the JRB or by the SVPSA. If the student does not expressly request an appeal to the SVPSA, the default appeal is to a JRB. Students may request, but they are not guaranteed, an appeal to the SVPSA who may deny the student’s request for appeal.
- As a preliminary matter, on all appeals, the SVPSA, or designee, will first determine whether the student has stated at least one ground for appeal so that the appeal will be taken. Appeals that do not state at least one of the above grounds for appeal may be automatically denied. Where a student requests the SVPSA take the appeal, the SVPSA will next determine if he will decide the appeal or not. If the SVPSA chooses not to take the student’s request for appeal, the appeal will be automatically submitted to the JRB. For all appeals, the student will be notified in writing whether the appeal will be taken and who will decide it. If the appeal is taken, the student will also be notified of the date, time, and location of the appeal hearing (if a hearing is granted). Although the JRB will always conduct an appeal hearing, the SVPSA reserves the option of deciding appeals based only on a written submission without an appeal hearing.

- On appeal, the appellate body will consider all information and evidence relevant to the appeal and will determine, by a preponderance of the evidence, whether each ground for appeal was met. If the appellate body finds that no ground for appeal was met, the determination and any sanction(s) will be upheld. If a ground for appeal is found to be met, the appellate body will determine an appropriate outcome.
- The outcome of the appeal is final, and no further appeal is available.
- The appealing student will be notified in writing of the final determination, and the university will update the student’s education records, as necessary, to reflect the outcome.

Appeals to the Judicial Review Board and Requests for Appeal to the Senior Vice President for Student Affairs

Once the SVPSA, or designee, determines that an appeal will be taken, appeals by students who have received a sanction of Dismissal or Expulsion will generally be heard by the Judicial Review Board (JRB). Appeals by students who have received a sanction of Non-Return or Non-Return in lieu of Dismissal will generally be reviewed by the SVPSA. The JRB will be comprised of three faculty members approved by the Provost, along with two students who represent the Student Government Association who are approved by the SVPSA. The SVPSA, or designee, will chair the JRB. The chairperson is a non-voting member of the JRB. The Office of Community Life will provide the JRB with a summary of the incident, along with a background report of the student’s behavioral record, and will present the facts and evidence revealed through its investigation to the JRB. For appeals heard by the JRB, the JRB will make its decision by majority vote using a preponderance of the evidence standard of review. For appeals heard by the SVPSA, the SVPSA considers all of the same information and evidence as the JRB and the SVPSA serves as the sole decider of the student’s appeal.

The JRB or the SVPSA may examine the circumstances and details of the incident. Accordingly, the JRB or the SVPSA may also, but are not required to, hear testimony, review the new evidence previously unavailable that is presented, and call any witnesses deemed necessary to make a fair decision. The JRB or the SVPSA will consider all information and evidence relevant to the appeal and will determine, by a preponderance of the evidence, whether each ground for appeal was met. If the JRB or the SVPSA finds that no ground for appeal was met, the determination of a violation and any sanction(s) will be upheld. If a ground for appeal is found to be met by the JRB or the SVPSA, the JRB or the SVPSA will determine an appropriate outcome and/or sanction consistent with the ground(s) for appeal met and then submit a final report indicating the findings and appropriate outcome and/or sanction(s). In the final report, the JRB or the SVPSA will either uphold, modify, or overturn the prior outcome and/or sanction(s). The JRB or the SVPSA may also modify conditions required for readmission or return (which may include considering an early return or the ability to continue studies online). In appeals to the JRB the SVPSA in which at least one ground for appeal was found to be met, the SVPSA, or designee, will communicate the final determination by the JRB or the SVPSA to the student in writing. If the JRB or the SVPSA decides to overturn the decision, the violation and any sanction(s) will be removed from the student’s records.

Sanctions

As previously stated, enforcement of community standards, through the use of sanctions, is intended to be redemptive, restorative, and carried out with love and grace. The university seeks to use sanctions provide students with opportunities to learn from past choices to help them best understand how to engage in the university’s unique culture and their surrounding community.

When a student or student group is ultimately found responsible for violating the Student Honor Code, the RD, Office of Community Life Associate Directors, the Associate Dean of Students, the Dean of Students, the Student Appeals Court, the Conduct Review Committee (CRC), the Judicial Review Board (JRB), or the Senior Vice President for Student Affairs (SVPSA) (each hereinafter referred to as a “sanctioning body”) may impose one or more sanctions. The sanctioning body may include any of the sanctions that are listed below, as well as any sanctions that are set forth in other applicable university policies or conduct codes.

Sanctions may include educational, restorative, rehabilitative, and punitive components. Some violations, however, are so egregious in nature, harmful to the individuals involved, or deleterious to the educational process that a severe sanction, such as Non-Return, Dismissal or Expulsion, is required. Moreover, when a violation is determined to be motivated by a legally-protected status (e.g., race, religion, gender, disability, and national origin), the sanction may be more severe.

The sanctioning body may request additional information from the respondent(s), which may be a student or a student group, and anyone who can provide information relevant to its determination of an appropriate sanction. In determining an appropriate sanction, the sanctioning body may consider the following factors:

- the nature and level of violence of the conduct at issue;
- the impact of the conduct on those injured or damaged, and other individuals;
- the impact or implications of the conduct on the community or the university;
- whether the conduct was motivated by another person’s membership in a legally protected class;
- prior misconduct by the respondent, including the respondent’s relevant prior discipline history, both at the university and elsewhere (if available), including criminal convictions;
- whether the respondent has accepted responsibility for the conduct;
- whether the respondent cooperated with the university’s investigation;
- maintenance of a safe and respectful environment conducive to learning;
- protection of the university community and property; and
- any other mitigating, aggravating, or compelling circumstances useful in reaching a just and appropriate resolution in each matter.

Sanctions may be imposed by the sanctioning body or other departments within the university, individually or in combination with other sanctions. For determinations of responsibility for violations of the Student Honor Code, the following sanctions may be imposed:

- Loss of Funding - The University may withhold funding for a definite or indefinite period of time (for student groups only)

- Deactivation - Loss of all rights and privileges, including university recognition, for a definite or indefinite period of time (for student groups only)

- Warning - A formal admonition, which appears in the student's disciplinary record at the university and may be disclosed by the university when the student consents in writing or as otherwise required or when permitted by law

- Written Apology - Submission of a written apology for the violation and the harm caused to other persons, groups, and entities. The written apology will be submitted through the university, rather than directly to the recipient(s)

- Points - Residential students may be assigned up to 30 points for a violation of The Liberty Way (for students only)

- Community Service - Community service work for a church or other non-profit organization for a prescribed number of hours
- Educational Assignments and Programs - Required participation in educational programs, or the completion and submission of educational assignments (e.g., essays)

- Failing Grade - A failing grade for an individual assignment or in a class as a result of academic misconduct (for students only)

- Monetary Penalties - Fines payable to Liberty University. Fees payable as restitution to damaged person(s), groups, and entities submitted through the university

- Restriction of Access to Space, Resources, and Activities - Restrictions placed on a student or student group’s access to space and/or resources or on participation in activities. Student groups may also be restricted from certain rights and privileges, such as recruitment of new members

- Removal or Reassignment of University Housing - Removal from university housing or reassignment to a different location within university housing (for students only)

- Recovery Program - Required completion of a recovery program, such as a 12-Step Celebrate Recovery program or another similar program approved by the university

- Disciplinary Probation - Disciplinary probation is a more serious admonition applied upon accumulation of 30+ points and is in effect until the end of the next semester in attendance. Students placed on disciplinary probation may receive a Judicial Housing (JD) hold which may restrict the student from moving off campus during the probation period. Students living off campus at the time they receive disciplinary probation may be required to move on campus during the probation period. One consequence of disciplinary probation is that any future policy violation, of whatever kind, during that time, may be grounds for Non-Return, or, in especially serious cases, immediate Dismissal or Expulsion from the university. Disciplinary probation will be taken into account in judging the seriousness of any subsequent infraction, even if the probationary period has expired. A student on disciplinary probation may not run for or hold an office in the Student Government Association until the student is no longer on probation. Disciplinary probation appears in a student’s disciplinary record at the university and may be disclosed by the university when the student consents in writing or as otherwise required or when permitted by law.

- Dismissal - Student status at the university may be indefinitely and immediately terminated for a minimum specified period during which the student may not enroll in any residential classes or intensives (even during a summer term) but, at the option of the sanctioning body, may or may not enroll in online classes. Dismissals are generally either or the shorter of one semester or six months, or for the shorter of two semesters or one calendar year, at minimum. Re-admission may or may not be conditioned upon fulfilling certain conditions listed by the sanctioning body. These conditions may include, but are not limited to, restitution of damages, completion of a recovery program, community service, payment of a fine, and written apology. Relevant information remains in the student’s disciplinary record at the university and may be disclosed by the university when the student consents in writing or as otherwise required or when permitted by law (for students only). If a student accepts the CRC’s sanction of Dismissal or if the JRB or SVPSA upholds the Dismissal on appeal, the student typically will need to move out of the residence hall within 48 hours of the final decision. The student may be required to leave sooner if the student is considered by the university to be a disruption to the campus community or a safety threat. When the dismissal occurs during a semester, all academic work is lost for the semester except classes that have been completed before the time the decision is imposed.
• Non-Return – Student status at the university may be terminated with a specified period after which the student may apply for re-admission or enroll in classes. Re-admission may or may not be conditioned upon fulfilling certain conditions listed by the sanctioning body. These conditions may include, but are not limited to, restitution of damages, completion of a recovery program, community service, payment of a fine, and written apology(ies). Relevant information remains in the student’s disciplinary record at the university and may be disclosed by the university when the student consents in writing or as otherwise required or when permitted by law (for students only).

• Non-Return in lieu of Dismissal – Student status at the university may be indefinitely terminated for a minimum specified period of time that begins at the end of the current academic semester, during which period of time the student may not enroll in any residential classes or intensives (even during a summer term) but, at the option of the sanctioning body, may or may not be permitted to enroll in online classes. The student is permitted to complete the current academic semester. Re-admission may or may not be conditioned upon fulfilling certain conditions listed by the sanctioning body. These conditions may include, but are not limited to, restitution of damages, completion of a recovery program, community service, payment of a fine, and written apology(ies). Relevant information remains in the student’s disciplinary record at the university and may be disclosed by the university when the student consents in writing or as otherwise required or when permitted by law (for students only).

• Expulsion – Indefinite and permanent dismissal of a student without the opportunity to reapply for admission or enroll in residential or online classes.

• Campus Ban – The withdrawal of any permission for the student to enter upon the property maintained by Liberty University and used for university operations or purpose. Students with Campus Bans who enter the property are subject to arrest and prosecution for trespass. Campus Bans are administered by the Liberty University Police Department (LUPD). A student with a campus ban may not enter Liberty’s campus property without first contacting LUPD to request for the ban to be lifted temporarily for a given purpose and LUPD agreeing in writing to the request. Campus Bans may be put in place for various reasons, including campus safety, Non-Return, Dismissal or Expulsion from the university.

• Transcript Notation - In accordance with Virginia Code Section 23.1-900 and Liberty’s Discrimination, Harassment, and Sexual Misconduct Policy, Liberty University will make a prominent notation on the academic transcript of each student who has been dismissed or expelled or has withdrawn from the university while under investigation for an offense involving “Sexual Violence” under Virginia law, under this policy, or under the university’s Discrimination, Harassment, and Sexual Misconduct Policy. The notation will be removed once the respondent is found not responsible or has otherwise been determined to be in good standing by the university (i.e., the process for applying for, and returning to, good standing for offenses involving sexual violence is different than the re-admission processes).

• Revocation or Withholding of Degree - The University reserves the right to revoke or withhold the award of academic degrees. If the violation is found to have occurred before graduation and during the time the student applied to, or was enrolled at the university, but a complaint was not filed prior to graduation, the degree may be revoked. If the violation occurred prior to a student graduating and is under investigation, the university may postpone the awarding of a degree pending the outcome of the investigation and imposition of appropriate disciplinary sanctions (for students only).

• Other Sanctions - Any other sanction not listed above, as determined appropriate under the circumstances.
Sanctions will be imposed immediately, except in the case of separation from the university pursuant to a Non-Return or Non-Return in Lieu of Dismissal sanction. In matters adjudicated prior to the last day of classes, if the final sanction is separation from the university (e.g., Dismissal or Expulsion), the granting of credit for the semester and/or the awarding of a degree will be at the discretion of the university. The imposition of sanctions by the sanctioning body is final and is not subject to further review.

Reapplication and Readmission

A student who has received a sanction of Dismissal may contact the Office of Admissions to begin the reapplication process. In considering an application for readmission, Enrollment Management will request that the student provide a thorough account of the actions that led to the student’s dismissal from the university and the student’s strategy for successful continuance at the university. Enrollment Management will also look to see whether the minimum term of dismissal has been served and whether other conditions for return, if any, have been met. Additionally, a letter of recommendation from a pastor, counselor, or civic leader, along with a letter of recommendation from the student’s parent(s) or legal guardian(s) (if the student is less than 21 years of age), should be submitted. Readmission to the university will be subject to any stipulations made by the Dean of Students in consultation with the Office of Community Life. Reapplication does not guarantee readmission. If readmission is granted, the Office of Admissions will contact the student with its decision.

Complaint Reporting

All complaints regarding violations of the Student Honor Code should be submitted via Beacon. The complainant will be encouraged to complete an official “Statement for Record” detailing the information relevant to his or her complaint. The Dean of Students, the Senior Vice President for Student Affairs, and/or a designated representative will review the complaint.

SELF-REPORTING

Students are encouraged to self-report when they have knowingly committed a violation of the Student Honor Code. When self-reports are received, the university will provide discreet counsel and support to the student. This self-report policy is intended for students seeking to acknowledge and self-correct their wrongdoing.

A student has the option of self-reporting a violation of the Student Honor Code to the Office of Community Life or the Office of Residence Life within one week of an offense. If an investigation has begun or if there is already prior knowledge of the incident, it may not be considered a self-report. The Office of Community Life or the Office of Residence Life will work with the student in implementing the necessary boundaries and accountability measures to foster an environment for growth. Students may only self-report the same behavior once per semester without sanctions.

The Liberty University community promotes chastity for its unwed students, as well as promotes life; accordingly, women who become pregnant and men whose sex acts result in conception are included in this self-report policy. The LU Shepherd Office or Student Counseling Services is available to assist students through this process.

NOTE: Violations of the law (felony and serious misdemeanor offenses) may carry sanctions up to and including Dismissal or Expulsion, even when there is a self-report. Moreover, there is a similar but different self-reporting policy in the university’s Discrimination, Harassment, and Sexual Misconduct Policy that applies to complainants and witnesses who make reports or complaints, or who cooperate with investigations and/or disciplinary proceedings, involving Prohibited Conduct, as defined in the Policy. Please refer to the Discrimination, Harassment, and Sexual Misconduct Policy for more information.
The CARE Team (Collaborate, Assess, Resource, Empower) exists to promote the safety and well-being of the university community. The CARE Team, comprised of core members from departments across campus that have the most direct student interaction, works collaboratively to assess students who may be displaying concerning behavior(s), and seeks to effectively resource them to on and off campus providers that help promote holistic student success.

Convocation is an assembly of the university community and its purpose is to develop campus unity, disseminate information, and challenge students spiritually, socially, morally, civically and intellectually. Convocation provides forums for the social and political issues of the day, as well as educational topics of diverse interest for the benefit of students, faculty, and staff. Guest speakers and performers from the worlds of business, politics, education, religion, athletics, entertainment and the sciences also help to make Convocation a refreshing and challenging time. All students are required to attend Convocation and remain present until dismissed. Students are permitted one “skip” per semester. All students assigned to a section with an RA, must inform the RA of their intent to use the skip before Convocation.

Qualifications
To qualify for living off campus, students must either be 21 years of age or older by December 31 to live off campus for the fall semester or by May 31 to live off campus for the spring semester, or be living with a parent or with a sibling who is at least 21 years of age.

Conduct
Students who live off campus are expected to abide by the Student Honor Code. Living off campus is a privilege that may be revoked at the discretion of the Office of Community Life. Students who repeatedly violate the Student Honor Code may be required to move back on campus immediately. Such students are responsible for the costs of relocation and campus housing that result from their off-campus housing privilege being revoked.

Liberty student e-mail accounts are the official means of communication for the Liberty University community, and students are expected to check their e-mail account on a daily basis. The university is not responsible for information that students do not receive as a result of not checking their e-mail account regularly. Students are also expected to visit the Liberty University Splash Page regularly for official announcements and information.
Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA)

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) of 1974, as amended, sets forth requirements pertaining to the privacy of a student’s education records. FERPA governs the release of such education records maintained by an educational institution, such as Liberty University, as well as the access to those education records. For detailed information on FERPA, visit the webpage for Registrar’s Office.

Students may inspect and review their education records, including disciplinary records, by submitting a written request to the Office of Community Life. The university will comply with this request within 45 days of receiving the request. When an education record contains information pertaining to other students, the student may inspect and review only the information pertaining to the student requesting the information, and the information pertaining to other students will be redacted.
