

Outcomes Management for Evaluation, Governance, & Alignment (OMEGA) Administrative Review

Overview

The Administrative Review allows Chairs and Associate Deans to evaluate the CLO-CR from an operational perspective. This step ensures that proposed changes align with the college or school's available resources.

Chairs and Associate Deans are responsible for identifying and managing any downstream impacts, such as Faculty Alternative Justifications, E-Plus questions, and ICE Exams, and for ensuring that updates are accurately reflected in the Term Effective Master (TEM).

During this review step, Chairs and Associate Deans can also view the Course Information section and responses from the SME/Lead Faculty and Program Directors.

Note: If the Administrative Impact Rating differs from the Curricular Impact Ratings provided by the SME/Lead Faculty or Program Director, include a brief justification. This explanation will help the Dean make an informed decision during the Dean Review.

Administrative Impact Rating Scale
Administrative Impact Rating	Category	Description
1	Minimal Impact	The requested CLO change has little to no financial or operational impact. The course is used by a single College/School, appears in few programs, has few or no Alternative Justification Forms, and is not widely available through EPlus, ICE, CLEP, or Ministry Partnerships. There are no required course changes, or the necessary updates are minimal and manageable within normal course maintenance cycles. The implementation date allows for standard curriculum adjustments.
2	Slight Impact	The requested CLO change results in minor operational adjustments but does not require substantial resource reallocation. The course is used by a limited number of Colleges/Schools, appears in a moderate number of programs, and has some Alternative Justification Forms. The course may be available through a few EPlus options but does not require extensive faculty or administrative coordination. Course changes may be required but are minimal, and the implementation date allows for standard adjustments.
3	Moderate Impact	The requested CLO change requires some additional administrative resources due to the number of impacted programs and Colleges/Schools. The course is used by multiple Colleges/Schools, appears in a larger number of programs, and has several Alternative Justification Forms. The course is also available through multiple EPlus options, increasing its institutional reach. Re-quired course changes may involve moderate re-visions, and the implementation date may require additional coordination to ensure timely updates across all affected areas.
4	Significant Impact	The requested CLO change has notable financial, staffing, or operational implications, requiring additional oversight to manage implementation. The course is used by many Colleges/Schools, appears in a large number of programs, has numerous Alternative Justification Forms, and is widely available through various EPlus options. Required course changes will involve extensive modifications, and the desired implementation date may be challenging to meet, requiring an accelerated update process. The impact on faculty training, accreditation, and course comparability policies must also be considered.
5	Major Impact	The requested CLO change has high institutional cost and operational challenges, requiring significant administrative intervention. The course is used by a high number of Colleges/Schools, appears in many programs, has extensive Alternative Justification Forms, and is offered in numerous EPlus options, making changes difficult to scale without substantial restructuring. Required course changes involve a major redesign, affecting faculty workload, technology integrations, accreditation compliance, and cross-institutional alignment. The implementation date is imminent, creating urgent logistical concerns for timely execution.
