Why Wait until the end of the semester for student feedback?

TAPs are a great way for faculty to receive student feedback mid-semester before End of Course Evaluations. At the beginning of the last 30 minutes of class, the teacher introduces the Teaching Consultant (TC) and leaves. The TC breaks the students up into groups, queries the groups, and builds consensus to the following:

1. What most helps you learn in this class?
2. What impedes your learning in this class? (And, if something impedes, what is the solution?)

After class, the teacher meets with the TC to debrief. TAPs are confidential. To schedule your TAP between Sept. 30 and Oct. 18, email: CAD@liberty.edu.

Classroom Management – In this session, participants will learn how to use classroom management strategies that encourage student cooperation while maintaining high standards of mutual respect.

Creating Video using Kaltura – During this hands-on workshop, participants will learn how to use the NEW version of Kaltura, how to create educational and informative video, and discuss best practices for making videos that engage students.

Assignments in Blackboard – Learn how to set-up assignments in Blackboard and how to connect them to the Grade Center.

Teaching Time Management to New Students – Do you find yourself reminding students frequently of upcoming deadlines, yet they still miss turning assignments in on time? Join this webinar to find out how to prepare your students to reach their goals using research-based time management strategies.

Great Presentations – Have you ever sat through a presentation that used glaring color combinations, unreadable fonts, and seventeen lines per slide? If you would like to avoid this happening to you, join this webinar to find out best practices for creating great presentations!

October 2019

Teaching with the Freshman Brain in Mind – Join this webinar to learn about the important cognitive differences that make teaching young adults joyful and challenging. Obtain practical strategies for teaching based on the latest learning science findings that you can implement immediately to help your Freshman and Dual Enrollment students excel in their learning.

Adobe Spark – Learn how to create innovative presentations that are sure to capture your students attention while conveying learning in an effective manner. Be sure to bring your laptop to this interactive, hands-on session.
Developing Rubrics that Support Teaching* – This webinar will demonstrate how you can harness the power of well-written rubrics that make grading easier while providing formative feedback to students.

Planning an Effective Course Schedule – The next semester is right around the corner. Join this session to revise, tweak, or update your course schedule to be as student and professor-friendly and organized as possible.

Date Management in Blackboard – Join this session to ensure your Blackboard assignments are scheduled to meet student needs. Please bring your laptop to this hands-on workshop.

Designing Group Projects* – Everyone loves group projects, right? We know group projects can be the bane of student and professor existence. Attend this webinar to learn how group projects can be designed to provide learning opportunities that students and professors will love.

The Potential of your Profession – Join Rawlings School of Divinity professor, Dr. Melody Harper, for this faith learning session that examines the fingerprints of God, brokenness of the world, and your influence as a professor.

Top Ten Tech Trends* – What new technologies have been developed recently that might make teaching even more effective and fun? Attend this fast-paced, interactive Webex session to find out!

November 2019

Top Hat Integration in Blackboard* – Top Hat: it’s not just for taking attendance. Discover innovative uses of Top Hat in addition to learning the basics to make your Top Hat experience the best possible!

Teaching Students with Disabilities – Join this interactive WebEx session to learn how to individualize instruction that builds on students’ strengths and provides a supportive and effective learning environment.

Grading Tips – Final papers and projects are upon us! In this workshop you will learn easy tips that will make your grading a breeze while providing detailed feedback.

Email Management for Faculty – Do you receive too many emails to attend to daily? Would you like to organize your Inbox to be able to find messages easily and respond to them in a timely manner? Come to this interactive session to learn how to combat “email overwhelm.”

A Biblical Approach to Conflict Resolution – Everyone encounters conflict, but not everyone handles it the same way. In this session, led by Dr. David Nemitz, participants will: (1) Discover their Conflict Resolution Style in normal and high stress situations, (2) Examine a construct to respond to conflict biblically, and (3) Review five keys to practicing relational wisdom.
